Modi woos business czars in the US

Seeks fresh US investments in India; deals on military drones, 5G and solar power expected

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday hit the ground running, holding back-to-back meetings with the top executives of five leading US companies from diverse sectors. Among the CEOs who met Modi in Washington DC the first day of his four-day US visit were Indian-Americans Shantanu Narayen, chairman of software major Adobe, and Vivek Lall, CEO of military drone manufacturer General Atomics. The others included Cristiano Amon of Qualcomm, a leader in 5G solutions; Mark Widmar, CEO of solar panel maker First Solar; and Stephen Schwarzman of global investment firm Blackstone.

During the one-on-one meetings with the business leaders, Modi highlighted the unique opportunities India could offer to them, sources said.

Modi's first interaction was with Qualcomm's Amon and the discussion was on how 5G technology could be accelerated. "We talked about an incredible opportunity to advance the industry not only domestically in India but India as an export of technology," Amon later said. According to the PMO, the Qualcomm CEO "expressed keenness to work with India in areas such as 5G and other @DigitalIndia efforts". Sources said Qualcomm wants to work with India on semi-conductors, 5G and the Prime Minister Wi-Fi Access Network Interface (PM-WANI) scheme.

Talks with Adobe's Narayen revolved around the firm's future investment plans in India. "Ideas to leverage Digital India flagship programme in sectors like health, education and R&D were also discussed," said the Ministry of External Affairs.

India's solar energy potential was the focus of Modi's meeting with First Solar's Widmar. "Discussions took place about First Solar's interest in setting up manufacturing facilities in India using their unique thin-film technology," MEA said.

Modi's meeting with Lall of General Atomics, one of the world's leading manufacturers of military drones, came amid New Delhi's plan to boost its defence arsenal. The two spoke about advancing defence manufacturing, use of emerging technologies and augmenting capacity building in India.

Apple CEO Tim Cook was conspicuous by his absence. He was reportedly scheduled to meet Modi on Thursday.

Snoopgate: SC to set up technical experts' panel on Pegasus

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday said it is planning to set up a committee of technical experts to look into allegations of unauthorised surveillance using Pegasus software, adding a formal order will be issued by next week.

The information assumes significance since the Centre had earlier offered to set up an expert panel on its own to look into allegations of snooping on civil society.

Chief Justice of India N V Ramana said the matter was taking time because some of the experts it wanted to induct had declined citing personal difficulties. "We will be able to finalise the members of the technical expert team by next week and then pronounce our orders." The remarks came when he was hearing some other case in which senior advocate C U Singh, one of the petitioner's lawyers in the Peagsus case, was appearing.

The SC had on September 13 reserved its order, saying it only wanted to know whether or not the Centre illegally used Pegasus to snoop on journalists, activists and politicians. The Centre had stoutly refused to file an detailed affidavit citing national security.

"We are not interested in any manner or in any way to know the issues which are concerned about the security or the defence or any other national interest issue. We are only concerned, in the face of allegations that some software was used against some people, to know whether it was used by the government, by any method other than permissible under the law," the bench had said.

The Congress appreciated the SC's initiative. "The Pegasus spy scandal is... an assault on national security and privacy... The solution is simple — A SC-monitored full investigation. SC observation of setting up a technical committee is a right step in this direction," Congress chief spokesperson Randeep Surjewala tweeted.

BJP warming up to Captain ahead of Punjab polls

HARPREET BAJWA @Chandigarh

A day after former Punjab chief minister Capt Amarinder Singh chided the Gandhi siblings, Rahul and Priyanaka, for unseating him, the BJP seemed to be cosying up to the veteran leader.

With the political pot in poll-bound Punjab already boiling following his high-pitched spat with state Congress president Navjot Singh Sidhu, the BJP's overture has added a new dimension to it. They have not only gone soft on him but are spinning him as a nationalist icon. Haryana Home Minister Anil Vij on Thursday sought to slam Sidhu, saying Amarinder was axed as he was a hurdle in installing pro-Pakistan forces in power in Punjab.

The BJP, which had gone on the backfoot in the state after the Shiromani Akali Dal broke its alliance with it last year citing the controversial farm laws, is now tempting Amarinder to jump ship so that it can become a significant player in the state polls. As for Amarinder, he is keeping his options open. P10

POWERFUL CRACKER BLAST KILLS 2; GODOWN OWNER HELD

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

A powerful explosion, caused by improperly stacked cartons of firecrackers, killed two people on the spot and left six others with severe injuries at a godown in New Tharagupet, V V Puram, here around noon on Thursday.

So powerful was the blast that the bodies of the two were blown to bits and lay scattered. Two of the ten two-wheelers damaged in the incident were hurled into the air due to the impact. Some residents who experienced the blast and witnessed the two-wheelers being tossed into the air, ran from the scene in panic. Window panes of neighbouring buildings were also shattered and a couple of passersby too sustained injuries.

The incident occurred on the premises of Sri Pathrakali Lorry Services. The deceased have been identified as Aslam Pasha (41), the owner of a puncture shop next to the godown and a resident of Goripalya, and Manohar (26), a worker at the godown and a native of Hosur in Tamil Nadu. The condition of one of the injured, Ambu Swamy, is said to be serious while Manjunath, Ganapathi and James are recovering in a hospital, a senior police officer said. Ganapathi had come to collect a few firecracker cartons, but sustained minor burn injuries compared to the others.

Although it has been confirmed that at least two cartons filled with firecrackers exploded, the investigators are yet to ascertain what triggered the explosion. P2

DRUG MONEY

Narco terrorism biggest global security challenge

BALA CHAUHAN @Bengaluru

NARCO-terrorism is emerging as the biggest threat to global security and the seizure of unprecedented quantities of high-quality contraband drugs over the last two years has sent shock waves among the law enforcement agencies.

"There's a steep spike in the quantities of contraband shipments since the outbreak of the pandemic last year. It is because of the disruption of supply lines after land routes were closed," said sources. Last year, Pakistan had closed three land routes with Afghanistan, which is the world's largest producer of heroin.

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

The haul of nearly 3,000 kg of heroin, worth over ₹21,000 crore, from Gujarat's Mundra port on September 15 by the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) is said to be the "largest consignment of contraband heroin seized in the world," according to sources.

A look at the worldwide seizures of heroin this year confirms the claim. On February 23, 1,500 kg of heroin, with a street value of 45 million Euros, was seized at Rotterdam in the Netherlands by Customs officers in cooperation with the British National Crime Agency. The contraband was concealed in bags of Himalayan salt from Pakistan. This was the biggest seizure in the Western European country.

Cotton farmers make rich pickings, potato growers in peril

K SHIVA KUMAR & B THIPPERUDRAPPA
@Mysuru, Chikkamagaluru

Women farmers harvest cotton at a farm near Dammanakatte village, H D Kote taluk, in Mysuru district | UDAYSHANKAR S

WHILE cotton growers in Karnataka are reaping a bounty, with the price of raw cotton soaring to a record high, potato and onion growers are in distress due to a huge slump in prices.

With the textile industry bouncing back, the price of raw cotton, which used to be in the range of ₹5,000-6,000 per quintal, has more than doubled to between ₹11,500 and ₹13,000 per quintal in different parts of the state. The minimum support price for the crop is ₹5,500 per quintal.

After a couple of lacklustre years, this season has been a blockbuster for cotton growers with agents and traders from neighbouring states making a beeline to villages in HD Kote, Saragur, Nanjangud, Hunsur and Gundlupet taluks in the Old Mysuru region where farmers are commanding the prices.

Most of the buyers are from Tamil Nadu as a majority of textile industries are situated in Tirupur and Erode where raw cotton is processed and the yarn exported to Bangladesh. Cotton trader Cheluvaraju said they have orders from dealers in Tamil Nadu and other states too. Villages in HD Kote region witness early monsoon and hence, sowing and harvest start early. Usually, about 47,000 hectares comes under cotton cultivation in the region, but it had dropped to about 30,000 hectares this season.

According to progressive farmer Kariyappa, the scanty rains and the truant monsoon in early April and May has had an impact on sowing activity, which has also contributed to the high demand for cotton. P7

Who's to blame for bad roads? Audit to take stock

Strict action will be taken against officials

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE State Government has decided to get a road maintenance audit done to fix responsibility on the officials concerned.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday informed the State Legislative Council that a detailed audit of main roads, arterial roads and sub-arterial roads will be done and action will be taken against the officials concerned if the roads are not maintained well. "The audit will cover all details including when the work started? How many times maintenance works were taken up? How many times potholes were filled? When was it asphalted? Which agency has done the work? Who is the engineer in charge of it?" the CM said. Responding to Congress MLC and former Bengaluru Mayor PR Ramesh's question on the condition of the roads in the state capital, the CM said the condition of Bengaluru roads often comes up for discussion and whoever is responsible for the maintenance of the roads, will be punished, if there are any lapses. The chief minister stated that in 2015-16, Central and State governments and BBMPgave administrative approval for Rs 20060.02 crore for road and maintenance works in 198 wards. In the City corporation limits, 46 roads have been developed under TenderSure projects with an investment of Rs 436.60 crore.

Responding to a specific question, "except flyovers and grade separators, if there is even a one-kilometer road that is free of thermal cracks, potholes, stripping, debonding, bleeding and ravelling in the city," the CM said, "It is a very intelligent question. Roads in Bengaluru are built to be free of thermal cracks, potholes, stripping, debonding, bleeding and raveling but due to heavy traffic and other reasons, some modifications would have been done on all roads, and they need to consult technical experts to prepare the report." Ramesh expressed concern over the poor condition of the roads even after the government spending lot of money on maintenance.

HORROR AT THARAGUPET

Saramma (63) and her family outside their house after the explosion at New Tharagupet in Bengaluru on Thursday

MANJU SHETTAR @Bengaluru

WITH horrible scenes of the tragic fire at an apartment in Devarachikkanahalli on Tuesday afternoon still fresh in the minds of Bengalureans, the blast at the New Tharagupet godown understandably ushered in panic. But it also presented selfless help from complete strangers who helped panicking children and elders in the immediate neighbourhood of the ill-fated godown.

Homemaker Sujitha N (34) who lives in the building next to the godown, had just left to buy provisions from a nearby store, when the blast occurred. Her two children, aged eight and four, were at home with her septuagenarian mother, a cardiac patient. Sujitha ran back to find heavy smoke billowing from the godown.

> Sujitha, homemaker who lives next to the godown

"I panicked when I heard my kids and mother screaming for help," she said. "I feared the worst, that they were caught inside with broken window panes and glass pieces all over, and could be badly hurt, or even worse." But help was at hand from unexpected quarters. Two men who were having tea at a nearby tea stall, rushed to help. "We could hear my children shouting for help, and the men ran in, trampling broken glass, to bring my kids and mother out," she said, visibly shaken at the thought of losing her dear ones. The two men then went their way to help others. "I was unable to even thank them for what they did as complete strangers!" said Sujitha. Anand BN, who lives in the same building, was at work when he received a call informing him about the incident. He collapsed on hearing about it, fearing it was a repeat of the Devarachikkanahalli incident. "My friends and colleagues helped me reach home within a few minutes. I calmed down only when I saw my wife, children and family members safe," he said.

Devaraj B, who shifted the two bodies into an ambulance, said, "Initially, I was scared to touch the bodies as the legs and hands had separated from the torso. When police reached the spot, my friends and I lifted the bodies and also helped fire personnel douse the fire."

Ilangovan, father of Manjunath, who was injured, said, "My son got down to take his bike to the gym. I was on the first floor, and came down on hearing the blast. My son was injured on his head and leg, and is recovering in the ICU."

No safety measures: Cops

SENIOR police officers, along with forensic experts, who rushed to the spot, found a total of 60 firecracker cartons stacked inside the godown. They have ruled out LPG leak or electrical short circuit as a cause for the blast. The godown also had industrial consignments.

Ganesh Babu, who owns the godown, has been arrested under the Explosive Substances Act. During interrogation, Babu told the police that the firecracker boxes had arrived early in the morning from Sivakasi in Tamil Nadu, and that two of the workers were supposed to distribute them to sub-dealers. However, preliminary investigations revealed that no safety measures were in place while transporting the firecrackers.

The police also recorded Ganapathi's statement. He had come to pick up 10 cartons of firecrackers for a firecracker sub-dealer on Avenue Road. He had loaded the last one on his pushcart and was returning to the godown to check whether he had taken everything when the blast occurred. He said he and Babu had reached the godown around 11.30 am.

Ganapathi sustained injuries on his hands and shoulders, and reported that he noticed two men lying in a pool of blood before being rushed to the hospital. Babu, a native of Tamil Nadu, has been running the transport service for several years. He receives firecrackers every year from Sivakasi for the Dasara and Deepavali festivals.

The police said they initially suspected chemical explosives as well as a terror plot and rushed a bomb disposal squad too, but realised it was not so. Suresh, an eyewitness who alerted the fire and emergency services, told TNIE, "I was near the godown when the blast occurred. I was shocked by the intensity of the blast. The residents were screaming and crying. I left my bike there and came a little far to call the fire service. Some of the workers brought out the injured and shifted them to Victoria Hospital."

The bodies of Pasha and Manohar were handed over to their families after postmortem examination.

Daily Starscope

PETER VIDAL

24th September: A number of people have asked me recently whether astrology is a religion or a science. Actually, it's neither! It depends on hard data, the position of the stars and planets, but I'd prefer to see it as a language of symbols. Fundamentally, it's a way of seeing the meaning that underpins everything in everyday affairs.

ARIES
(Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
If you're a perfectionist, like so many members of your sign, you may be finding current pressures rather hard-going. However, if you are ready to take life as it comes, there'll be much to stimulate and entertain you, perhaps opening a window on a completely new world.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 - May 21)
It may seem that you have now had your last chance to take an important decision on money, perhaps involving partners and close friends. However, the present lull is but a temporary phase. While you're in it, it could feel as if it's lasting forever.

GEMINI
(May 22 - June 21)
Delays are inevitable, but there's nothing to worry about. At such times, when life slows down, you must take the opportunity to reflect on the state of your life so far, and consider just where your current activities are taking you. Do you really want to be the centre of attention? If not, alter your course now.

CANCER
(June 22 - July 23)
Discreet discussions are likely quite soon and if these involve your work, the outcome will include welcome long-term benefits. An increasingly lively social life will provide the absolutely perfect counter-balance to your steadily accumulating responsibilities.

LEO
(July 24 - Aug. 23)
The general impact of current planetary influences is to deepen your mental processes. The result will be a mood of increasing seriousness combined with delays and, quite possibly, broken arrangements in your social life. But, then, you're getting used to that!

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Significant discussions are becoming more intense and serious, now there's a hint that there is more to be settled before agreement is reached. Concentrate on getting your home affairs straight and establishing order in family arrangements - and, if you have any doubts, let partners set the pace.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
This could be a critical time for all money matters. You'd be well advised to get hold of more information, although you must wait a little longer before deals are finalised to everyone's satisfaction. Romantic partners continue to make extra demands - and I suspect you're ready to deliver whatever they ask.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
You should know by now that it's much better to let other people understand what you're really feeling, otherwise you can't complain if you are misunderstood. Partners genuinely want to help, so put your suspicions to one side and welcome whatever assistance is offered.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
Certain proposals must be left on ice for a little while, at least until you have had time to digest what partners have said and done. You must continue to discuss your plans and proposals in as much detail as is required. Never feel you have to make a final decision until you are ready.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
Although you are often in an outgoing and sociable mood, you have a tendency to go behind people's backs, even if well-intentioned. Don't be surprised if friends are bemused by your behaviour. After all, you have been putting out confusing signals!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
It's an excellent time to broaden your horizons and diversify your affairs. Not only is your career involved in this reassessment, but so is a whole range of leisure and social activities. But, first, you must finalise financial plans as soon as you can.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Why not live up to your reputation and be more tolerant in your dealings with loved ones? The demands you make on them have more to do with your own high expectations than the reality of the current situation. In other words, you'll do yourself a power of good by being more realistic.

State prepared for third wave, says Sudhakar

Bengaluru: As part of the state's preparation to tackle the possible Covid third wave, 20 per cent beds in district and taluk hospitals as well as in community health centres will be reserved for children. Informing this to the Assembly on Thursday, Health Minister Dr K Sudhakar said they have kept ready 25,870 oxygen beds and 502 paediatric ventilators. Also, 285 new pediatricians, 1,250 doctors and 1,850 nurses in district and taluk hospitals have been given special training, he replied to Vijaynagar Congress MLA M Krishnappa, who raised the issue of the state's preparedness. ENS

Health workers can soon take Covid booster shots

Centre likely to give nod for third shot, ahead of third wave

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

Considering the possibility of future waves, Delta variant and 'long Covid', booster shots for this segment should be given priority. There are no supply issues too

— Doctor

A health worker vaccinates a beneficiary in Bengaluru. Experts say that they should be given priority for booster dose as they are directly in contact with patients

THE much-awaited approval for the third Covid-19 shot for healthcare workers, is likely to come in a week's time. According to confirmed sources, there has been an increase in demand for booster shots by healthcare workers, who are directly in contact with Covid patients.

"Many of our healthcare workers are not only getting reinfected, but their antibodies are also waning. We have already submitted a proposal for the demand, and are expecting to get approval in the coming week," said a senior doctor from Private Hospitals And Nursing Homes Association (PHANA), requesting anonymity.

Meanwhile, healthcare and frontline workers expressed concern that it's already been five-six months since many of them took their second shot, and antibody tests show they are on the wane.

"Considering the possibility of future waves, Delta variant and 'long Covid', booster shots for this segment should be given priority. There are no supply issues too. We've heard that the proposal will be approved soon," said a senior doctor from Victoria Hospital.

Agreeing to this, Dr T Jacob John, renowned virologist from Christian Medical College, Vellore, said, "It is proven scientifically and immunologically, that healthcare workers should be given priority for a booster dose, which is ordinarily given six months after the first schedule of the two doses. This is the right interval for the booster dose."

Explaining that the government's planning matters, he said the available doses can be divided into three categories -- for healthcare workers, for those whose second dose is due, and those who have not yet taken the first dose. There should be a policy to include priority booster doses for healthcare workers aged above 55.

Meanwhile, healthcare experts are also demanding that booster doses be given to vaccinated people with low antibody levels.

A senior doctor and vaccine expert from Karnataka explained, "Though the antibody level is 30,000 to 40,000 in some Covid-infected people, it is below 50 in a significant number of vaccinated individuals. If the antibody level is 60 to 100, we can say the person is antibody positive. Such people can definitely be given the third dose." Interestingly, there are unconfirmed reports that some healthcare workers have already taken the booster dose without Cowin registration.

Karnataka's Technical Advisory Committee has proposed that a letter recommending reducing the interval between the first and second dose of Covishield, be sent to the central government for consideration. "As vaccine supplies have improved, and in the context of a possible third wave in October and November, TAC recommends reducing the interval from 84 days to 4-8 weeks, as was the practice earlier," the committee recommended.

A senior doctor, on condition of anonymity, said the government is likely to reduce the gap to less than 60 days.

"The announcement may come early next week. There is tremendous pressure on the government for this, and an urgency to clear vaccine stocks, not just in Karnataka but other states too," explained the doctor.

PRIVATE LABS TO ASSIST IN GENOME SEQUENCING

CHETANA BELAGERE @Bengaluru

AFTER much waiting, the government of India has finally decided to involve private laboratories in the process of genome sequencing. The Indian SARS-CoV-2 Genomic Consortia (INSACOG), established for genomic surveillance in the country in January, has announced that private labs will be allowed to detect new coronavirus variants, so as to significantly scale up genomic surveillance in the country.

According to a statement by INSACOG, based on interest expressed by some private sector laboratories, a meeting was organised with the labs, after which it was decided to have a standard operating procedure for involvement of private labs which intend to get involved in the process of genome sequencing.

The main players who were part of the meeting were representatives of Mahajan Imaging Private Limited, New Delhi; Strands Life Sciences, Bengaluru; Genotypic Technology Private Limited, Bengaluru; NMC Genetics India Pvt Ltd, Gurgaon; Mapmygenome India Limited, Hyderabad, and Premas Life Sciences, New Delhi.

"At the meeting, based on proven expertise and experience of private sector laboratories, it was thought prudent to involve the laboratories for genome sequencing of the Covid-19 virus, and it was decided to have a standard operating procedure for involvement of private sector laboratories," the statement from INSACOG said.

INSACOG initially consisted of 10 labs, which carried out genomic sequencing of 60,000 positive cases from different states of India, and later, 18 more research laboratories were included in the network.

"There is a felt need for increasing sequencing efforts further, and target for sequencing about 80,000 samples in a month for identification of variants of concern (VoC) and variants of interest (VoI) in the Indian samples, so as to advise policy makers for effective management of Covid-19. To enhance the sequencing efforts, involvement of private sectors was considered...," said the statement.

Appreciating the move, Dr Vishal Rao, dean, Centre of Academic Research, HCG Cancer Hospital, and member of the Genome Committee, GoK, said, "It is essential to have wider participation from all stakeholders and scientific experts. This step will further strengthen genomics surveillance programmes, much like the efforts of CDC Spheres, USA, or COG-UK. This will improve infrastructure and technology utilisation across channels to deliver faster and more integrated data, and metadata to assist in using genomics surveillance for public health responses."

SPEAKER LOSES COOL, RAPS UNRULY MLAs

Warns that he will release list of 'indisciplined' legislators, seeks Oppn leader Siddaramaiah's help

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AFTER repeated pleas to House members to sit failed, Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri warned MLAs that he will release a list of legislators who do not follow House rules and expose their "indisciplined behaviour''.

Kageri lost his cool when opposition members created a ruckus over indifference in allotting funds to their constituencies. Many of them continued to question the government, even after being informed that Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, who was not in the House at that time, would answer their questions.

Initially, the Speaker asked JDS members as to who would teach them discipline. When members gave the JDS numbers in the House, Kageri asked them not to show their strength in front of the Speaker.

"Speak one at a time. It is not easy for me to listen. You are showing disrespect to the House and the Speaker's seat," he said. At some point, when he was unable to control them, he sought the help of Opposition leader Siddaramaiah.

When members refused to listen, the Speaker said he has a list of indisciplined MLAs. "I did not want to say this, but you are forcing me to. I don't want to expose this, but if you force me to, I will have to list your names. Then you will know where you stand, the whole world will know,'' he warned. He also advised them to read rule books and come to the House.

As the 10-day session has been called after a gap of six months, Opposition members are keen to highlight many issues, while the government wants many bills passed. There was friction between the Speaker and Opposition members, as the former wanted to complete issues listed within a timeframe, while members wanted more time to discuss issues.

Former Speaker KB Koliwad said the Speaker should not have lost patience as MLAs have the right to demand information from the government. If opposition party members are given more time to discuss their issues, they will not create a ruckus, the former Speaker added.

> I did not want to say this, but you are forcing me to. I don't want to expose this, but if you force me to, I will have to list your names. Then you will know where you stand, the whole world will know

We'll boycott LS Speaker's address: DKS

Bengaluru: Opposition Congress members have decided to boycott Lok Sabha Speaker Om Birla's address to members of both the Houses of the State Legislature on Friday. State Congress president D K Shivakumar said except for the members, the President and the Governor, there is no provision for others to address a joint session of the legislature in the Assembly. "Without discussing with the opposition leaders, they are going ahead with it and sending out invitations. We do not have any objection if the Lok Sabha Speaker is invited to address members in the Banquet Hall in Vidhana Soudha, but they are insisting on holding it in the Assembly," he said. The Congress leader said they had opposed it when it was discussed in the Business Advisory Committee meeting.

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai addresses the Legislative Council on Thursday

Bommai gets nod for Rs 10,265 crore supplementary estimates

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday informed the Legislative Council that Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman has promised to release the 2020-21 GST compensation of Rs 11,800 crore in ten-eleven installments at 10 per cent each month. The CM also got the approval for supplementary estimates of Rs 10,265 crore -- 4.16 per cent of the state budget, with an initial balance of Rs 1,536 crore, expecting a revenue of Rs 8,728 crore. Out of a net outflow of Rs 6,367 crore, the Jal Jeevan Mission was allocated Rs 1,000 crore, the Food and Civil Supplies Department Rs 1,700 crore and for Covid19, a whopping Rs 3,300 crore. Replying to MLC K A Tippeswamy, Bommai said that the GST compensation of Rs 18,109 crore has been granted for 2021-22, of which Rs 8,548 crore has been released. The state will also get Rs 4,000 crore through central sponsored programmes, he said.

Officials told to take up austerity measures: CM

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said he has instructed officials to take necessary austerity measures. He was speaking after tabling The Karnataka Appropriation (No. 3) Bill, 2021, in the Assembly on Thursday. As leader of the Opposition Siddaramaiah wanted the government to take measures to cut down wasteful expenses, Bommai said he has already instructed officials to do so. "There are also attempts to evade GST using new ways, but our officials are tracking such evasions. We will also plug tax leakages related to mines, excise and motor vehicles," he added. Siddaramaiah said there was a cash outflow of Rs 6,000 crore while the GST collection had dipped. "Only the collection of excise duty is as per expectation."

Kalyana K'taka board to get members, secretary soon

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced that members and permanent secretary to the Kalyana Karnataka Region Development Board (KKRDB) will be appointed within 10 days and the freeze on recruitment for the region will be lifted. He was replying after a discussion on the academic, social, health, economic and other development in the region raised by leader of the opposition Siddaramaiah, Ajay Dharam Singh, Priyank Kharge, and other MLAs of the Congress in the Assembly on Thursday. "The restriction imposed on the recruitment due to the pandemic will be immediately withdrawn to pave way for recruitment. The Cell, which supervises the works done using the grants, is functioning from Bengaluru and it will be shifted to Kalaburagi."

BSY comes to minister's rescue

Bengaluru: Former Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa came to the rescue of Transport Minister B Sriramulu, who landed in trouble by saying that the government had given compensation to the family members of Covid victims. While Congress MLAs criticised the government for mishandling the pandemic and demanded that compensation should be immediately released, Sriramulu said the government had already given Rs 1 lakh compensation. As the opposition party said the minister was lying in the floor of the House and demanded his apology, Yediyurappa intervened and said, "My colleague has said it by mistake. The government has set aside Rs 300 crore for the purpose, but it is yet to reach the beneficiaries." The Congress demanded that the conditions set for compensation should be relaxed and compensation should be increased to Rs 5 lakh.

Meeting to discuss Karanth Layout issues

Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said he will soon convene a meeting with elected representatives and Bengaluru Development Authority (BDA) officials to discuss issues related to providing compensation to people whose lands are being acquired for the Shivaram Karath Layout. Responding to MLC M Narayanswamy's question, the CM said there are directions from the courts on layout development and a three-member committee constituted by the Supreme Court is monitoring it. Citing a court order, the CM said provisions of the Right to Fair Compensation and Transparency in Land Acquisition, Rehabilitation & Resettlement Act, 2013, are not applicable for the acquisition made under the BDA Act. Most of the farmers are demanding compensation as per the 2013 Act.

Panchamasali demand rocks House

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE demand for inclusion of the Panchamasali Lingayat community under the 2A category in the state reservation quota echoed in the Assembly on Thursday. Putting the state government in a spot, two BJP MLAs -- Basanagouda Patil Yatnal and Aravind Bellad – took up the cause, and trooped to the well of the House, creating a commotion for some time.

During zero hour, Yatnal pointed out that during the legislative session six months ago, then chief minister B S Yediyurappa had promised to give the Kuruba community Scheduled Tribe tag and increase ST reservation quota from the existing 3 per cent to 7.5 per cent, for the benefit of Valmiki, Uppara and other ST communities.

"Yediyurappa also guaranteed inclusion of Panchamasali Lingayats, who are economically, socially and educationally backward, as well as subcastes Gowda Lingayats, Malegoudas and Deeksha Lingayats into the 2A category within six months. Going by this, September 15 was the deadline, but nothing has been done so far," he said.

The MLAs were pacified to return to their seats after being assured of a reply from the state government.

Cong Lingayat leaders meet, seek recognition

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

SCENTING disillusionment with the BJP among Lingayats, the Congress is making renewed efforts to woo the community, especially with former Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa now dethroned. Congress Lingayat leaders, led by heavyweight former ministers Shamanur Shivashankarappa, Eshwar Khandre and MB Patil, held a meeting in Bengaluru on Thursday to discuss how to build a Lingayat narrative within the Congress in time for the 2023 assembly elections.

The party has seized on Yediyurappa's removal to play on the community's emotions. "The BJP and RSS have misused the trust of Lingayat leaders. They forced former CM Yediyurappa out of power and treated him with disrespect. We want to attract more Lingayats to the Congress fold and bring the party back to power," Former Youth Congress president Basangouda Badarli said.

The agenda of the meeting was primarily to ensure that the Congress is able to attract more community members, especially the youth, before the assembly elections. They want to work out a proper plan of action, gain greater support from mutt seers, and take up party responsibilities.

The other leaders who attended the meeting were Vijay Mathikatti, Anand Angadi Gaddedeveramat, Sharanappa Matoor, Chandrashekar Patil, Nagaraj Chebbi, Allamaprabhu Patil, Anil Patil, Prakash Koliwad, Anil Kumar Thadkal, Mahantesh M P Prakash, Latha M P Prakash, Arun M B Patil, Dinesh Shivamogga, among others.

They informed the party that Lingayat leaders need to be recognised and nurtured, and also complained that they felt discriminated against when positions and responsibilities were being assigned. Barring senior Lingayat leaders the others feel neglected. Most Congress Lingayat MLAs were defeated by BJP in North Karnataka, and some had lost by very narrow margins. They suggested that with a better Lingayat narrative, they can easily get more votes.

Former MLC Nagaraj Chebbi said, "The lack of Lingayat leadership within the Congress needs to be addressed. Those who have been denied rightful opportunities have to be identified and the central leadership needs to understand this. KPCC President D K Shivakumar has given considerable support and met many Lingayat pontiffs. We have spoken to CLP leader Siddaramaiah too."

Mega convention at D'gere on Sept 30

DAVANGERE: A mega convention of the Panchamasali community, to press for 2A reservation status, will be held in Davangere on September 30. More than 50,000 people from the community are expected to attend the event, former Harihar MLA from H S Shivashankar told reporters on Thursday. ENS

Open for debate on NEP: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS implementation of the National Education Policy (NEP) evoked a heated debate on Thursday between ruling and opposition members in the Upper House, CM Basavaraj Bommai clarified that the government is open for debate, before its implementation. "A lot of dimensions are involved as the task force on implementation has also given its report. We will never step back from debate," he remarked.

Congress member B K Hariprasad, who had made a scathing attack that the government is imposing RSS policies through NEP, termed the CM's statement as a "silver lining in the dark clouds". Marithibbe Gowda (JDS) alleged that NEP encourages children of 'shudra' – backward communities -- to drop out.

Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan alleged that the Congress was trying to score political brownie points to return to power. "Since December 2015, 1.2 lakh stakeholders gave feedback, of which 52,585 unrelated ones were omitted – 30,241 have supported the draft NEP, whereas 36,471 people offered suggestions. Of these, 5,106 suggestions were taken to frame the policy," he said.

House Chairman Basavaraj Horatti suggested that the government call a meeting of legislators to iron out differences. "PM Narendra Modi has taken an initiative in the interest of future of children. There is scope for open debate," the CM said.

GRAM SEVA

State govt plans to take online citizen services to villages

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

CITIZEN-related services will go online even in rural areas with the State Government planning to launch the Gram Seva project on January 26 on a trial basis. The services will be made available at Gram Panchayats, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai said on Thursday.

Speaking at the inaugural function of the Amrit Gram Panchayat scheme, the CM said gram panchayats should become centres offering citizen services and delivering government facilities at the doorsteps of people, and added that officials have been directed to start preparations for the implementation of the scheme in five districts.

Under the scheme, overall development of 750 gram panchayats will be taken up with Rs 2,300 crore for providing drinking water to each household, streetlights, 100 per cent segregation and disposal of solid waste, scientific disposal of waste water, installing solar power and schools with digital libraries. The CM said around Rs 3 crore will be provided to each panchayat, along with an incentive of Rs 25 lakh, which complete the programme by March 31 next year.

If all the 750 GPs succeed to meet the deadline, as many as 1,500 panchayats will be selected for the scheme in the next phase, the CM said and added that the State Government has released Rs 2,000 crore recently for implementation of the Jal Jeevan Mission to ensure 100 per cent coverage of functional household tap connection in rural areas.

CM Basavaraj Bommai at the inauguration of the Amrith Gram Panchayat scheme

Emphasizing the importance of people's participation in governance, the CM said planning should be done at the grassroots level and funds must be provided by the government.

Union Minister of Rural Development and Panchayath Raj, Giriraj Singh, said all gram panchayats must be connected digitally by 2024, and directed the State Government to implement this on priority. The minister also promised to look into RDPR Minister KS Eshwarappa's request to enhance the target under MGNREGA.

Prashant Kishor should join our party, says Moily

ENS @ Bengaluru

FORMER Union Minister Veerappa Moily on Thursday told TNIE that he had informed AICC President Sonia Gandhi and former President Rahul Gandhi about getting election strategist Prashant Kishor into the Congress party. He said they have held a couple of rounds of meetings on this issue.

Prashant Kishor was in Bengaluru recently, and had met Moily for about three hours. "It is my opinion that Prashant Kishor should join the Congress and not remain just a strategist outside the party. We have to give him a suitable position and responsibility in the party,'' Moily said.

Prashanth Kishor has worked for various parties in ten elections and delivered nine times. There are many state elections coming up next year, but the Congress needs to focus on the 2024 Lok Sabha election, he said.

The Congress veteran is also preparing for elections, keeping in touch with party workers and constituents, and also holding a walk, Gandhi Nadige (Gandhi Walk) in his constituency on Sunday, where he will interact with the people.

Chaat seller arrested for murder of wife, daughter

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kalaburagi

A chaat seller allegedly murdered his wife and minor daughter in Sedam town, kalaburagi district, on Wednesday, the police said.

The accused, Digambar Kalaburagi (45), was allegedly suspecting the character of his wife Bhavani (35), which is believed to have led him to murder her and their daughter Priyanka (11).

Bhavani and Priyanka (above); Digambar Kalaburagi

The police said that Digambar and his wife used to frequently quarrel with each other. Even on Wednesday night, he picked up a fight with Bhavani, which turned ugly. In a fit of rage, Digambar allegedly picked up a club and struck her repeatedly, killing her. Later, he also attacked Priyanka. Following the incident, he informed his in-laws about the matter, and went to the local police station and surrendered. Investigators visited the crime scene and have booked Digambar for murder.

According to sources, Digambar used to sell pani puri at Ramnagar, which suffered losses during the pandemic. He later shifted his trade to Sedam, with his family following him and settling down at Vishwanagar locality of the town, a few months ago.

Doubting wife's fidelity, realtor slits her throat

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 34-year-old woman was allegedly murdered by her husband at their house in Annapurneshwari Nagar on Wednesday. The accused, Kantharaju (39), absconded after committing the crime. He was allegedly suspecting her fidelity.

The deceased has been identified as Roopa, and the couple have an 8-year-old son. Kantharaju is a realtor, who also runs a finance company in Arogya Layout.

A senior police officer said the incident took place around 4 pm. Roopa had just attended a phone call. Her husband reportedly checked her call records and picked a fight with her, suspecting her fidelity. In a fit of rage, he grabbed a kitchen knife and slit her throat. He locked the door from outside and fled the spot. After a while, their son returned home from tuition and opened the door of his house, only to find the lifeless body of his mother. He called his grandparents, and the Annapurneshwarnagar police were alerted.

Based on a complaint by Roopa's parents, a case of murder has been registered against Kantharaju, who was also named in a double murder case in 2005 and jailed. He came out on bail in 2011 and married Roopa. Efforts are on to nab him, the police officer added.

Free power connections for 1L TN farmers

Scheme to cost Rs 3,025 crore; Stalin says only 2.1L connections were given to ryots in past 10 years

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chennai

CHIEF Minister MK Stalin on Thursday launched a scheme to provide one lakh free power connections for agricultural purposes at an expenditure of ₹3,025 crore this financial year. At an event here, 10 farmers received the orders for power connection from the Chief Minister.

Hailing the speedy work of his Cabinet colleagues in fulfilling the promises made to the people, Stalin said Minister for Electricity Senthil V Balaji overtook others and fixed a date to launch this scheme. Under the DMK regime from 2006 to 2011, as many as 2.09 lakh power connections were given to farmers.

"During the AIADMK rule in the past 10 years, only 2.10 lakh power connections were given to farmers. But in just four months, we are going to give one lakh power connections to farmers. Nowhere in the country can one find such a speedy government," the Chief Minister said.

Stating that the successive DMK governments had been pro-farmers, Stalin said that very recently, the State Assembly passed a resolution handing out a warning to the Union government with regard to the three farmer-related legislations. He also recalled the role of former chief minister M Karunanidhi in resolving the Cauvery water dispute. During the previous DMK regime, farmers' loans worth ₹7,000 crore were waived. Also, 1.89 lakh acres of land were given to 1.50 lakh landless farmers free of cost. Above all, Karunanidhi provided free power supply to farmers, Stalin asserted.

Charging that the previous AIADMK regime ruined the TNEB and left it with a debt burden of ₹1.59 lakh crore, he said that every year, the State government has been paying ₹16,000 crore interest for this loan. The AIADMK regime had also purchased power at a high price and entered into long-term power-purchase agreements instead of short-term agreements, Stalin said

Madras HC says animals are best left in the wild

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @Chennai

REFUSING to intervene, the Madras High Court on Thursday backed the Tamil Nadu forest department's first-of-its-kind attempt in the country to release bull elephant 'Rivaldo' into the wild after caging him for nearly three months in a kraal.

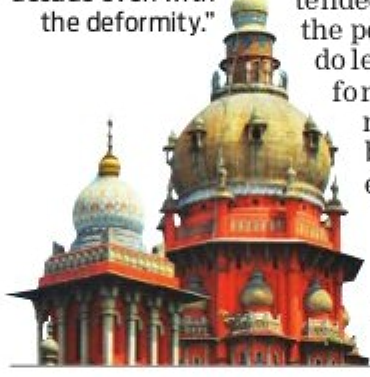
In a video presented by the department before the first bench of Chief Justice Sanjib Banerjee and Justice P D Audikesavalu, Rivaldo was seen drinking water, foraging, grazing and even attempting to extract salts from mud. According to the forest officials, Rivaldo has not shown any inclination to return to human settlements and is moving in the elephant corridors that have been restored.

Having watched the videos, the court was convinced that the decision of the forest department was not arbitrary. "...animals are best left in the wild. For all we know, Rivaldo may be the first case in the country of an elephant kept in captivity for a long period of time for its treatment and released back into the wild. There is no doubt that Rivaldo would face difficulties in the wild. But, one cannot be sure that Rivaldo prefers captivity than being left open in the wild and he may yet make attempts to make forays into human settlements; but he should always be encouraged to go back to the wild unless it is a question of his survival," the court said in the order.

The order was passed after hearing a PIL filed by animal rights activist S Muralidharan, who argued that Rivaldo cannot survive in the wild as he had lost a part of his trunk in 2010. However, chief wildlife warden Shekhar Kumar Niraj, who attended the virtual hearing, debunked the petitioner's concerns saying Rivaldo learned to live with his deformities for a decade and that the department's decision to release him back into wild was backed by well-established, scientific principles. "We have deployed multiple teams and are using the latest technology to keep an eye on Rivaldo 24/7," Niraj said.

Elephant is happy, didn't lose weight

The order was passed after hearing a PIL filed by animal rights activist S Muralidharan, who argued that Rivaldo cannot survive in the wild. Mudumalai Tiger Reserve (MTR) wildlife veterinarian Rajesh Kumar told TNIE that the elephant's rewilding process was going on successfully. "The elephant is happy and has not lost any weight, suggesting it has not found it difficult to take food. An elephant of his size will eat an average of 250 kg of fodder and drink 300 litres of water every day and he is doing it for a decade even with the deformity."



Ex-boyfriend stabs woman to death outside Tambaram stn

SAHAYA NOVINSTON LOBO @ Chennai

A 20-year-old woman was stabbed to death in broad daylight near Tambaram railway station in Chennai on Thursday, allegedly by a man with whom she had ended a three-year relationship. Police said the assailant subsequently attempted to kill himself but was stopped by members of the public.

The deceased was identified as M Swetha from Chromepet, a second-year student of Medical Laboratory Technology at the Madras Christian College's School of Continuing Education.

The assailant, identified as Ramachandran, a native of Tirukkuvalai in Nagapattinam district, has been admitted to the Rajiv Gandhi Government General Hospital after injuring himself, police said. He worked at a private manufacturing unit at Maraimalai Nagar in the outskirts of Chennai.

According to police, Swetha and Ramachandran had been in a relationship for three years. Inquiry revealed Swetha had ended the relationship, said a senior police official. "The man had called her to speak about the issue," he said.

Police said Ramachandran asked Swetha to meet at the spot after her class ended. They met near the railway station and walked to the railway quarters nearby. Police, quoting eyewitnesses, said Ramachandran had a heated conversation with the woman and, after a while, pulled out a kitchen knife he had hidden and stabbed Swetha in the throat.

As passers-by raised an alarm, Ramachandran cut his own throat. "While the attempt inflicted damage on his neck, the public nabbed the man and informed police," said an officer.

Well-digger throws rock on friend

T'puram: The Parassala police took into custody a 51-year-old man for allegedly attempting to murder his friend-turned-foe by dropping a rock on him, while he was engaged in digging a well at Udiyankulangara near Parassala on Thursday morning. Binu, a resident of Dhanuvachapuram, was nabbed for attempting to kill Shinekumar. The police said that Binu and Shinekumar were well diggers. However, their friendship soured after dispute over wages. ENS

Many farmers opt for BT cotton

KARIYAPPA said that many farmers shifted to maize this time as the cost of cultivation is also less.

Concurring with him, Ashoka, a farmer from Hanchipura, pointed out that those who stuck with cotton cultivation are getting bumper yields and good returns. Most of them have bid goodbye to traditional cotton varieties and opted for the hybrid BT cotton as it is disease-resistant and yields sooner. Traders in some parts like Chitradurga are buying raw cotton at Rs 13,000 per quintal, but middlemen are taking farmers for a ride in Saragur taluk, he rued.

Referring to the shortage of farm labour, he said cotton growers are struggling to complete harvesting early as they fear that the prices may drop once cotton from Telangana and Maharashtra arrives in the market.

On the other hand, potato and onion growers have resorted to dumping their produce on the roadside in Chikkamagalur district due to falling prices. On Wednesday, they even staged a protest. A farmer in Ajjampura taluk destroyed the onion crop grown on two acres.

Take a tour of Bengaluru on an electric scooter

BOSKY KHANNA @ Bengaluru

WITH the focus on climate change, environment and energy conservation, and subsequent loss due to the pandemic, the tourism department has decided to encourage Bengaluru visitors to take tours of the city in electric vehicles.

The Ministry of Tourism will launch this initiative as part of World Tourism Day on Saturday. Similar to how tourists rent scooters in Goa to explore the place, Bengaluru visitors will be able to rent electric vehicles (EVs) to explore the city, but on curated tours with route maps.

The ministry noted that the pandemic has made people apprehensive about crowded public transport. So, to revive tourism, Mohamed Farouk, Director of Karnataka's Ministry of Tourism decided to launch this unique initiative.

"This year's theme is - Inclusive growth of tourism, which includes the local community of our city and Dekho Apna Desh promotion campaign. Under this, visitors will be taken on an experiential tour of the city. As part of the Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, people will be visiting places significant to independence and freedom struggle, authentic food trails and places that are of heritage and traditional value. This will also raise awareness about the importance of making the shift to electric vehicles," he said.

The ministry has partnered with Yulu Miracle, Rustik Travels and Monks on Wheels for this. Tourists can contact the tour operators to chalk out curated tours and routes, book an EV and head out.

"We are launching it first in Bengaluru. Based on its success and financial viability, we will extend the services to Mysuru and Mangaluru," Farouk added.

Hotel staff held for camera in toilet

Hyderabad: Jubilee Hills police arrested Bongarala Benerjee, a housekeeping staff working at "1 Drive in" located at Jubilee Hills after he was found to have set up a mobile camera in a women's washroom of the restaurant. A woman customer who visited at the restaurant late on Tuesday night noticed the camera and immediately alerted the police. According to police, a woman in her mid 20s, along with her friends, came to the restaurant located on Road No 10 in Jubilee Hills on Tuesday night. When she went to the washroom, she noticed something suspicious near the ventilator and found a mobile phone, with its camera switched on, placed there. After informing the staff, she immediately called the police.

END THE NARCOTIC JIHAD DISCOURSE, RESTORE SANITY

The public discourse on 'Narcotic Jihad' in Kerala, triggered by the remarks of a Catholic bishop who used the term in a sermon to warn about what he considered a new method to lure and convert Christian youths, has continued without pause for the last week. Joseph Kallarangatt, bishop of the Pala diocese of the Syro-Malabar Church, paired it with another contentious term, 'Love Jihad', used to describe the widely discussed conspiracy theory of how young non-Muslim women are targeted for conversion through deception, making it clear who he is talking about. The polarising nature of the ongoing debate makes it imperative to put an end to it immediately. Instead, what we get are statements after statements from all stakeholders aimed at keeping the issue alive. While Muslim organisations want the bishop to withdraw the remarks, the church has thrown its weight behind the cleric, leading to an unfortunate standoff that could vitiate the atmosphere further. With political parties grabbing the opportunity to fish in the proverbial troubled waters, even CM Pinarayi Vijayan's categorical statement that narcotics trade had nothing to do with any religion doesn't seem to be enough to stop the distressing discourse.

No purpose is served by making communally-provoking statements, other than spreading hatred and hastening the polarisation process that is on. Religious leaders in influential positions especially must resist the temptation to pander to divisive sentiments prevalent in communities and lend credence to unconfirmed conspiracies. The church's stand that the remarks were not against any particular community but were warnings against certain anti-social activities certainly lacks merit, but it can prevent further damage. The Muslim organisations would have served the cause of harmony had they let the matter rest without giving scope for further debate. It's not possible to completely stop odd toxic voices making their presence felt now and then, but society must learn to ignore them in the interest of peace. The efforts being made by some religious leaders to restore communal harmony in this regard are welcome. Let's hope better sense prevails and the tense air of acrimony and mistrust dissipates.

UNDERSTANDING THE HAVANA SYNDROME

The mysterious Havana Syndrome has entered the news again. Reports of a US official in CIA Director William Burns's team that visited India in the first week of September complaining of the syndrome's symptoms has brought it back into focus. Last month, it peeped out of the surface when US Vice President Kamala Harris's planned visit to Vietnam got delayed when several American officials reported symptoms similar to those first reported by 19 officials attached to the US embassy in Havana, Cuba, in 2016—which explains the source of its name.

The Havana Syndrome presents symptoms that include difficulties in remembering things, severe disorientation, trouble in focussing eyes, and an inability to walk or sleep. It is known to make the afflicted individual extremely sensitive to sound and suffer pain along with a built-up pressure inside the skull, tinnitus and concussion-like symptoms. Unfortunately, experts have no clue about its causes. Is it a virus? Is it a microbe that is not yet known? Or is it a result of a man-made weapon, biological or otherwise? Lack of answers has fuelled US suspicions of Chinese or Russian operatives involved in targeting American diplomats and spies. Theories are flying high and fast—including a panel of the US National Academy of Sciences pointing to a feasible theory of a directed pulse radio frequency energy being used to target the US officials' brains.

Why is the target exclusively US officials in every case known so far? If it is a hitherto-unknown microbe, what makes only these Americans susceptible to it? And if it is indeed a man-made weapon created by either the Chinese or the Russians to target spies and diplomats from "enemy countries", are the US officials being used as guinea pigs only for it to be used on others in the future? The US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention did investigate the Cuban incident in 2017. The final report, however, remains marked for "official use only". If the US is indeed serious about it, the probe data should be shared for the benefit of all. There cannot be scope for speculation and suspicion in an already pandemic-rattled world.

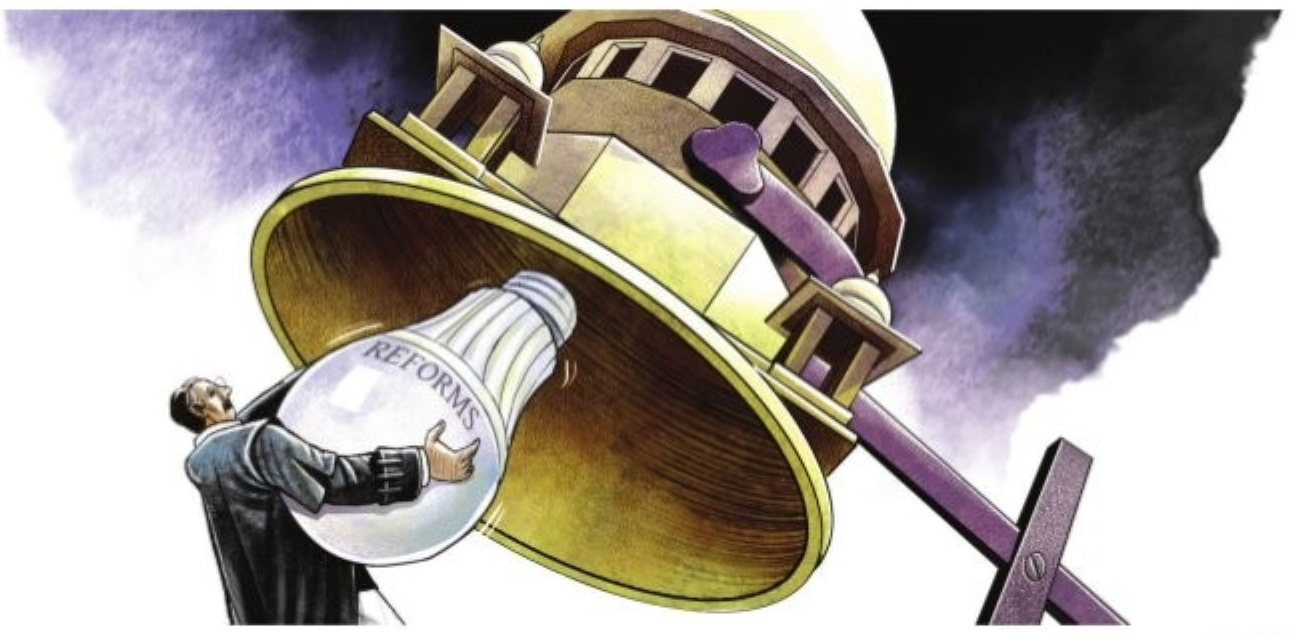
A SUPREME COURT OF POSSIBILITIES

KALEESWARAM RAJ

Lawyer, Supreme Court of India



AMIT BANDRE

During the Pegasus case hearing, the Supreme Court asked tough questions to the Centre and reserved the matter for interim orders. The Centre's unwillingness to file a proper affidavit and its bafflement over the question of whether they used Pegasus or not might invite the court's judicial opinion. A speculation on the outcome is not the intent of this piece. Suffice to say that the case saw an assertive Supreme Court that rose above narrow interests and temporary political constraints. It remained serious about the allegation that national security was used as a ruse for snooping on the citizens and retaining power at any cost.

Apart from the Pegasus case, on and off the Bench, Chief Justice Ramana made certain comments that reflected his sense of constitutionalism. Harish Khare, in a column, said that a "Raman(a) Effect" was evident when the Chief Justice reminded the nation about the tyranny of elected majorities. India has witnessed the perils of such majoritarianism during the Emergency (1975-77). It remains a constitutional alarm bell for the future.

An elected government could turn autocratic and try to annul the Constitution in various ways. It can pass legislations that subvert the Constitution. It can withhold its purse and refuse to heed the requirements of the judiciary, ranging from human resources to infrastructure. It can impose its likes and dislikes upon the judiciary and thereby meddle with judicial appointments, elevations and transfers. It can woo the judges with offers of post-retirement rehabilitations. It can invoke its agencies and draconian laws against the dissenters and try to dismantle the judicial remedies for them.

The quality of democracy is always indicated by the dialectical relation between the political wing and the judicial wing. Even the much-politicised judiciary in the US was unwilling to accept any of the challenges made to the electoral result that ousted the Trump administration. In the UK, the Supreme Court, by way of its Brexit verdict (2019), set aside the prime minister's move to suspend the Parliament. In Sri Lanka, in 2018, when the then President Sirisena dismissed Prime Minister Ranil Wickremesinghe who enjoyed clear majority in the House and appointed Mahinda Rajapaksa as the PM, it was the Supreme Court that interdicted Rajapaksa from functioning as the premier, because of which Wickremesinghe was reappointed. This was how democracy was saved in the island nation.

These are a few instances where an assertive court could come to the rescue of the Constitution and the people in the republic. But one would not be euphoric about the courts across the world on reading the scholarly article written by David Landau and Rosalind Dixon titled Abusive Judicial Review: Courts Against Democracy. The authors say that "courts around the world, for example, have legitimated antidemocratic laws and practices, banned opposition parties to constrict the electoral sphere, eliminated presidential term limits and repressed opposition-held legislatures". In this empirical study, the authors explain how the constitutional courts are captured by the executive in different countries. In Venezuela and Hungary, laws were made to control the court, whereas in Bolivia, impeachment was used to tame the judiciary. History shows that in nations like Poland, Nicaragua, Russia and Pakistan, the court has endorsed the mischiefs of the political wing and ceased to be a fine arbiter.

The Indian judiciary is at a crossroads. During the recent years, many cases of constitutional importance were not heard by the top court in time. The plea against laws like the provision on sedition or the Citizenship Amendment Act and pleas challenging electoral bonds and reorganisation of Jammu & Kashmir are pending adjudication. The validity of economic reservation by way of the 103rd constitutional amendment also awaits a decision. Special care needs to be taken to expedite the pleas for release of political prisoners in the country by whatever legal means possible. The Supreme Court needs to act as the first court of liberty, the Constitution's essential promise.

The Chief Justice can do a lot in bringing in reforms in the system as demonstrated by Willy Mutunga, former Chief Justice of Kenya, who activated ombudspersons to connect the court with the people. Chief Justice Ramana can perpetuate the online hearing system now evolved in the Supreme Court and ensure access to justice for the people of this vast country. The inauguration of virtual courts is perhaps the most significant transformation that has taken place in the Indian judicial system recently. As Justice D Y Chandrachud recently said, a change in the mindset among lawyers and judges is necessary to achieve the goal of paperless courts.

There is great potential for enhancing the quality of the judicial system. Some suggestions include better judicial management, prioritising hearing matters of imprisonment and deprivation of liberty, effective e-filing, speedy disposal of cases, female and minority representation among judges, and the expansion of virtual courts. Establishing regional Benches of the Supreme Court in different parts of the country will go a long way in reducing pendency and improving judicial productivity. Dismantling the hierarchy between designated senior lawyers and others is also crucial to maintain a homogenous lawyer fraternity. Legal plutocracy in all its forms should be discouraged and fair advocacy encouraged. The crucial aspect, however, is to retain the independence of the judiciary and embrace its role as an effective and powerful counter-majoritarian institution in a democracy.

DAANA AND THE KING'S BALANCE AT HAMPI

SRINIVAS SISTLA

Associate Professor, Department of Fine Arts, Andhra University, Visakhapatnam

The King's Balance at Hampi is such a modest structure that visitors to the place may surely see it from a distance, but might not stand around the same for a while as many do, say, at the Stone Chariot in the nearby Sri Vijaya Vittala temple (c. 1513 CE). This weighing frame, except for a few motifs like lions sitting on their haunches, contains no carvings that call for any special attention of the visitor. The Balance also contains no inscription, and hence it is not possible to ascribe its construction to a king of the Vijayanagara empire. Nevertheless, the edifice stands to represent an age-old custom of giving auspicious gifts during various ceremonies. The structure is known in Sanskrit as the Tulaa-bhaaram (measuring the weight), and is associated with a ritual called the Tulaa-purusha-daanam or weighing of a man against precious goods like gold, silver and the like, which are then gifted to others.

Daana is considered as one of the chief principles of the Dharma in religious theology and also in state polity. In ancient times, daanas were given by kings and other wealthy nobles for various reasons such as to expiate sins, to avoid divine punishment, while anticipating the birth of a son, to gain success in undertakings, to ward off ills that may befall an individual, community, country, etc. The concept of daana figures in the Rig Veda, the earliest known Indian text, and an ancillary text by name Brihadvata contains hymns of Daana-stuti (in praise of giving). Mahaveera of Jainism and Gautama Buddha of Buddhism also stress upon the aspect of giving endowments.

Ancient texts refer to Shodasa Maha Daana (16 great gifts) in which Tulaa-purusha-daana tops the list. It was mentioned first in the Satapata Brahmana, and the Baudhayana Dharma Sutra refers to the same as a vrata (vow), undertaken by a person to expiate his sins. The Matsya Purana and Hemadri's Chaturvarga Chintamani (13th century) give minute details of prayers and rituals relating to the tulaa-purusha ritual. The Mahabharata says that Sibi Chakravarti had weighed himself to protect a bird (dove). In numerous depictions of the Sibi Jataka of Buddhism, in India and also Afghanistan and China, the Balance is generally shown as a hand-held mini scale. Many inscriptions suggest that tulaa-purusha was more popular among the South Indian kings of various dynasties, including the Pandyas, Cholas, Vengi Chalukyas, Rashtrakutas, Kalingas, etc. Even a few Buddhist kings of Sri Lanka, and the Mughal kings, from Akbar onwards, performed the weighing ceremony on more than one occasion. A few Mughal paintings show the event, and an etching print shows King Martanda Varma of Kerala weighing himself in the Balance.

With regard to the Vijayanagara rulers, Deva Raya I (r. 1406-22) of the Sangama dynasty had performed the weighing ceremony in the capital itself. In 1515, Sri Krishna Deva Raya (r. 1509-29) of the Tuluva dynasty had weighed himself in Sri Amareswara temple at Amaravati, the present-day capital of Andhra Pradesh, and the proceeds were donated to Brahmins by his two chief queens, Tirumala Devi and Chinna Devi. His half-brother, Achyuta Deva Raya (r. 1529-42), performed the same ceremony with pearls in Sri Varadaraja temple at Kanchipuram, Tamil Nadu.

The Amukatamalyada, a long poem written in Telugu by Krishna Deva Raya, hints that the tulaa-purusha gifts were not taken by all, but only by utterly poor Brahmins. The emperor's court poet Nandi Timmana had written in Telugu the Paarijaata Apaharanamu, in which Satyabhama and Rukmini quarrel with each other and finally weigh their husband, Krishna, in the Balance. Many Telugu scholars had suggested that the poet had used anyokti (allegory) to reflect upon the personal life of the emperor and his two wives. Incidentally, the right-side basement of the King's Balance at Hampi contains portrait figures of a king and his two queens. Though there exists no evidence, in my opinion, the figures seem to represent Krishna Deva Raya and his chief queens, Chinna Devi and Tirumala Devi. Their statues in Sri Venkateswara temple at Tirumala were inscribed with their names in Kannada script on their respective shoulders. Whereas, the three figures on the King's Balance still remain half-buried in the ground. Apparently, the figures were not even partly exposed till a few years ago. For the same reason, I guess, not many scholars had written about the portraits earlier.

SC decision welcome

The Supreme Court's rejection of the Centre's request to defer the induction of women in the NDA exam till next year is welcome. The delay in assembling infrastructure and course requirements for female cadets cannot be an alibi, particularly in defence, where swift action is needed.

GOP's vested interests

The forcible ouster of former Punjab Chief Minister Capt Amarinder Singh, who took the Congress to victory with his relentless efforts, due to the lack of experience of the Gandhi siblings is a sorry tale. Further, party president Sonia Gandhi's arbitrary selection of leaders without giving weight to their ability, experience and integrity highlights that the GOP is more indebted to vested interests than ideals and performance.

No natural intelligence

This is with reference to Can AI replace human authors in the near future? (Sep 23). The nomenclature of artificial intelligence suggests that it does not possess natural human intelligence. It is only a programme based on advanced methods of computer language. It cannot measure human emotions or accurately form an opinion of one's behavioural patterns. Hence, for the time being, we need not bother about AI's encroachment upon human originality.

A M Chakravarty, Hyderabad

Creativity of human mind

AI is the product of the human mind's actual intelligence. The former can support and buttress the latter, but its chances of overtaking the artistic creativity of the human mind are remote for now. The GPT3 has done a clever cut-and-paste job, but human creativity will hopefully remain unconquerable.

Is it really suicide?

This is with reference to Need thorough probe into seer's unnatural death (Sep 23). The editorial rightly highlights how the death of Akhil Bharatiya Akhara Parishad head Narendra Giri raises many issues that lack clarity, like the suicide itself, which has been challenged by the Niranjani Akhara. It is hard to believe that the aged seer, having undertaken all the rigours of an ascetic life, succumbed to worldly pressure.

Krishna Kumar G, Ernakulam

Suspicion on former pupil

The seer's unnatural and untimely death has drawn the attention of the people. Everyone's suspicion is on Ananda Giri, his former disciple. The Niranjani Akhara refuses to accept the suicide note. The government should conduct an investigation to unravel the actual reason for the untimely death.

No issues with India's vaccine certification: UK envoy

High Commissioner Alex Ellis holds talks with National Health Authority CEO R S Sharma, calls it a step forward towards facilitating travel

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

BRITISH High Commissioner to India Alex Ellis said on Thursday that the UK had no issues with the country's certification process.

After a meeting with National Health Authority's CEO RS Sharma, Ellis tweeted, "Excellent technical discussions with Dr RS Sharma@AyushmanNHA. Neither side raised technical concerns with each other's certification process. An important step forward in our joint aim to facilitate travel and fully protect public health of UK and India."

The envoy's comments come a day after the UK added India-manufactured Covishield to its list of approved vaccines for travellers but said that it had some concerns over the vaccination certificates issues by the NHA-run CoWin application.

Responding to the envoy's tweet, Sharma said recognition of vaccine certificates would be instrumental in resuming socio-economic activities between the UK and India. "We also look forward to deepening ties between NHA and NHS, as we collaborate to build a digital continuum of healthcare services," he tweeted. Following confusion, UK government officials said that additions or changes to the approved country listings are being kept under "regular consideration", but there was no further clarity on the required criteria for approving a country's vaccine certification.

Travellers vaccinated in India are currently not on the UK government's recognised list and are mandated to take a pre-departure test and self-isolate for 10 days upon arrival in UK.

Relief to kin in Covid-related suicide

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre has informed the Supreme Court that family members of people who die by suicide within 30 days from being diagnosed as Covid-19 positive are also entitled to ex-gratia to be paid out of the State Disaster Relief Fund.

Suitable directions in this regard may be passed by the top court, the Centre stated in its affidavit.

It further stated that in order make the scope of the compensation broader and more inclusive, deaths occurring within 30 days from the date of testing or from the date of being clinically determined as a Covid-19 case, will be treated as 'deaths due to Covid-19', even if they take place outside the hospital/ in-patient facility.

The government had earlier informed the SC that it had recommended a compensation of ₹50,000 for family members of every person who succumbed to Covid-19.

During the hearing, a bench of Justices M R Shah and A S Bopanna said, "Today we are very happy. There will be some solace to the persons who have suffered. Everything the government is performing, we're happy that something is being done to wipe out tears of the person who suffered."

"We have to take judicial notice of the fact that what India has done, no other country could do," Justice Shah added.

The court was hearing an application seeking compliance of the June 30 ruling in which directions were issued to the National Disaster Management Authority to frame guidelines for granting compensation to the dependents of those who died due to Covid and to issue guidelines to simplify the process of issuance of death certificates in Covid-19 cases.

Ensure no crowds in areas with 5% positivity rate: Centre tells states

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Union health ministry has issued specific guidelines to states ahead of the festive season, asking them to avoid mass gatherings in districts with over 5% test positivity rate.

Noting that the festive season will last for over two months, from Navratri to New Year, the Centre said it is a "critical period" as there may be a tendency to ignore Covid-appropritae behaviour.

Warning that any laxity in implementation of Covid-safe behaviour could lead to serious consequences, Union health secretary Rajesh Bhushan, in a letter to all chief secretaries, said no mass gatherings should be allowed in containment zones and in districts reporting over 5% case positivity.

Gatherings with advance permissions and limited people may be allowed only in districts reporting a positivity rate of 5% or below, he stated. "These gatherings shall also be monitored and in case of violations of physical distancing and mask usage norms, necessary enforcement and penal action should be taken."

Bhushan further directed that relaxations and restrictions should be imposed and monitored based on weekly case positivity or a high bed occupancy rate while there should be strict adherence to limits on gatherings linked with availability of space.

"Use of volunteers to aid thermal screenings and to enforce use of masks and physical distancing should be considered," the letter said.

Mundra port heroin haul biggest so far

ACCORDING to the Europol, on May 10, the Romanian authorities detected and seized 1,452 kg of heroin in two containers loaded with marble slates. The shipment had arrived at the Romanian port of Constanta from the Middle East.

In India, the haul at the Mundra port, besides being the largest, is the third big consignment of heroin seized by the DRI this year. On July 3, the central agency had seized 300 kg of heroin, concealed with gypsum, at Nhava Sheva port in Navi Mumbai. On August 10, the DRI had seized 191 kg of heroin concealed with liquorice at the Navi Mumbai port. All the three consignments of heroin had been shipped from Afghanistan via Bandar Abbas port in Iran.

Besides heroin, the DRI had seized a shipment of 330 kg of cocaine, packed along with timber logs from Panama, at the Thoothukudi port on April 21. According to sources, who are privy to information, there is a "possibility that the production, accumulation, arranging for logistics and shipment of such large consignments of heroin may have taken place before the regime change in Afghanistan, but the beneficiaries of the illegal drug trade could definitely be the Taliban."

According to the United Nations, harvesting of opium provided about 12,000 jobs in Afghanistan in 2019. "It is also believed that the drug trade accounted for up to 60 per cent of the Taliban's annual revenue," the world body stated. "Drug trafficking accounts for half of all transnational organised crime proceeds, providing a constant source of funding for other criminal activities and even threats such as terrorism," the UN stated.

As per the United Nations Office on Drugs & Crime (UNODC) Report 2021, global opium poppy cultivation rebounded in 2020, rising by 24 per cent, compared with the previous year, to reach 2,95,000 hectares.

CASTE CENSUS OF OBCs IS DIFFICULT, GOVT TELLS TOP COURT

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

OPPOSING the Maharashtra government's plea seeking census data on Other Backward Classes (OBC) in the state, the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment has told the Supreme Court that the demand is administratively difficult to fulfill and will suffer both on account of completeness and accuracy.

In an affidavit, the Centre submitted that it issued a notification on January 7, 2020 prescribing information to be collected in the upcoming 2021 Census which includes information relating to Scheduled Castes and Scheduled Tribes, but does not refer to any other category of caste. The Maharashtra goverrnment had approached the top court seeking information about OBCs in the state that was available with the Centre during the 2011 Census.

The state legislative assembly had this year passed a resolution to approach the Centre for 2011 Census figures in order to compile the empirical data on the OBC population in the state. The 2011 Census data has not been released till date by the Centre, citing errors.

The central government in its affidavit said that unlike mandate for collection of census data on SCs and STs, "there is no such constitutional mandate for the Registrar General and Census Commissioner, India to provide the census figures of OBCs/BCCs".

Population Census, the Centre maintained in its affidavit to the Supreme Court, is not the ideal instrument for collection of details of caste.

"The operational difficulties are so many that there is a grave danger that the basic integrity of the census data may be compromised and the fundamental population count itself could get distorted," the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment submitted.

Eviction drive: 2 killed as Assam cops fire at protesters

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

TWO persons were killed when a mob of migrant Muslims clashed with police during an eviction drive at Dholpur in Assam's Darrang district on Thursday. Eleven policemen were among the injured.

CM Himanta Biswa Sarma said the police had to take action as the mob, protesting the eviction drive, attacked the personnel with sticks, machetes and spears. He said the drive would continue on Friday.

As a video of the incident went viral and triggered an outcry, the Assam government has decided to institute an inquiry into the circumstances leading to the death of two civilians and injury of several others, including police personnel, in the firing incident. An official statement said the inquiry would be conducted under the chairmanship of a retired judge of Gauhati High Court

Condemning the firing, Congress leader Rahul Gandhi tweeted: "Assam is on state-sponsored fire. I stand in solidarity with our brothers and sisters in the state - no children of India deserve this".

CPI(ML) politburo member Kavita Krishnan tweeted: "What protocol orders firing to the chest of a lone man coming running with a stick @DGPAssamPolice @assampolice? Who is the man in civil clothes with a camera who repeatedly jumps with bloodthirsty hate on the body of the fallen man?"

Later, police said, the 'camera man' was arrested.

Rafiqul Islam, an MLA of the All India United Democratic Front, slammed the CM saying the latter planned the drive to please "Nagpur". "God will give justice. Eviction for agricultural purposes is fine but it should have been carried out after rehabilitating these landless people," Islam said.

However, BJP national general secretary Dilip Saikia said the people were served notices before the drive. "These are Bangladeshi s. They settled there a few years ago after grabbing government land."

About 800 Bengali-speaking Muslim families were occupying about 4,500 bighas of government land in some villages in Darrang. The government recently decided to use the land for agricultural purposes.

India and Japan not to be part of AUKUS, says US

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE US has clarified that no other country, including India and Japan, will be a part of AUKUS, the trilateral security partnership with Australia and the United Kingdom.

"The announcement of AUKUS last week was not meant to be an indication, and I think this is the message the President (Joe Biden) also sent to (French President Emmanuel) Macron: that there is no one else who will be involved in security in the Indo-Pacific," White House Press Secretary Jen Psaki said in response to a question on whether other countries would be joining the grouping. "AUKUS? What would it become? JAUKUS? JAIAUKUS?"

The AUKUS was jointly announced by Biden, Australian PM Scott Morrison and British PM Boris Johnson. Under the framework of the partnership, Australia received a fleet of nuclear-powered submarines for the first time.

The AUKUS is being seen as an effort to counter China in the Indo-Pacific and will allow the US and the UK to provide Australia with the technology to develop nuclear-powered submarines for the first time.

China recated sharply saying the bloc would undermine regional stability.

The move also angered France which said that it had been stabbed in the back. Biden and Macron agreed on Wednesday that open consultations among allies on matters of strategic interest to France would have helped.

Cong ground work to take on BJP virtually

RICHA SHARMA @New Delhi

CITIZEN reporter, fake news alert desk, state-wise dedicated control room and amplifying local issues nationally — the Congress social media department is gearing up ahead of assembly elections next year to take on the BJP virtually in the war of perception building.

It is looking to rope in common people to narrate the hardships they have faced due to the policies of central and respective state governments.

"We launched a Covid Nyay Yatra in Gujarat where we shot 400 videos of family members of people who died due to Covid-19. The state government has been hiding the exact number of people who died during the pandemic. This is an initiative to give voice to family members who lost their loved ones. These videos are amplified to present the real picture," said Congress social media incharge Rohan Gupta.

Following discussion with state units, the party plans to train a dedicated team of volunteers who will hit the ground to connect with people and bring in their stories through videos. "The need was felt as the issues concerning people are not properly raised in the media. We thought to directly involve those affected as 'Janta Ka Reporter'. We are looking to pick specific issues and amplify it based on facts and figures," he added.

Plans are also afoot to set up a national fake news alert desk that will do fact-checking and amplify it with data and facts.

For the polls, dedicated control rooms have been set up and workers are being mapped booth wise and connected through social media platforms for circulation of issues and collecting feedbacks.

BJP to start pre-Budget consultations soon

New Delhi: The BJP will initiate consultations with a cross-section of the stakeholders to gather inputs for the Union Budget. Claiming that the economy is out of the woods after the impact of the Covid-19, the BJP stated that India is on course to achieve double digit growth. "The BJP will hold discussions with various stakeholders to gauge their concerns and demands. The BJP will share the feedback gathered from such consultations with the government," said party spokesperson for economic matters Gopal Krishna Aggarwal. The BJP in recent years has been holding a number of brainstorming sessions with the representatives of various stakeholders in the economy to zero in on actionable agenda for the government.

West Bengal delays RERA implementation

New Delhi: The West Bengal government failed to effectively implement the Center's Real Estate Regulation Act (RERA) despite an apex court order. The Act which is meant to protect the interests of homebuyers in the Country has been implemented by most of the States and nearly 75,000 complaints have been disposed by the authority so far. On Thursday, the issue came up during a meeting between the Housing and Urban affairs Minister Hardeep Puri and Central Advisory Council for Rera member Abhay Upadhyay. The minister tweeted that the matters pertaining to delay in effective implementation of Rera by Bengal was discussed. Upadhyay said the state had failed to implement the Act despite a Supreme Court order.

Amit Shah to address mega cooperative conference on Sept 25

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah will address the first mega conference as the cooperation minister on Saturday where he will speak to about 8 crore members of various cooperatives. He is likely to outline the government's vision and roadmap for development of the sector.

The Sehkarita Sammelan, or the national cooperative conference, will see 2,000 people attend in person while 8 crore will join virtually at Delhi's Indira Gandhi Indoor Stadium.

The Sehkarita Sammelan was created in July with an aim to strengthen the cooperative movement in the country. The conference is being organised by cooperative bodies IFFCO, National Cooperative Federation of India, Amul, Sahkar Bharti, NAFED and KRIBHCO, among others. Minister of State for Cooperation B L Verma and International Cooperatives Alliance (Global) President Ariel Guarco will also be present.

"This is the first big event (where) the minister will address the cooperatives and will share the government's vision and outline the roadmap for development of this sector in the country," the ministry's spokesperson told reporters.

This will be the first opportunity where the members of cooperatives will hear from the minister directly about the government's plan for the sector, the official said.

Around 3 million cooperatives from 110 countries associated with the International Cooperative Alliance (Global) are also expected to join virtually, an IFFCO official said.

This conference will also play an important role in strengthening Indian cooperatives on the global stage. It will also work towards realising Prime Minister Narendra Modi's aim of 'Sabka Saath, Sabka Vikas', IFFCO said.

Pakistani among 3 terrorists shot dead along LoC

Army foils 2nd infiltration attempt within a week, seizes AK rifles, IEDs & currency notes

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

THE Army foiled an infiltration attempt — the second from across the Line of Control (LoC) within a week —by killing three heavily armed terrorists at Hatmulla in north Kashmir's Baramulla district on Thursday.

Troopers recovered a large cache of arms and ammunition including five AK rifles, eight pistols, two IEDs and 69 grenades with many of Chinese and Pakistani origin. Indian and Pakistani currency worth ₹35,000 and ₹3,300 were also found from the slain terrorists.

General Officer Commanding (GoC) of Srinagar-based Army's 15 Corps Lt Gen D P Pandey told reporters that at around 6 am, jawans spotted three persons crossing over at Hatmulla area in Baramulla. "On being challenged, there was a gunfight and three terrorists were killed," he said. "Documents recovered reveal that one of them is a Pakistani and identity of the two others is being ascertained. The group to which they belonged is also being ascertained."

Blaming Pakistan for infiltration, the GoC said it is not possible that such activity can take place without connivance and support of local army commanders. "Either they have adopted the approach of 'live and let live' or differently... They are complicit in allowing such activities to enable infiltration of terror groups."

Referring to the three-day army operation in Uri, Lt Gen Pandey said, "On September 18 night, an attempt was made to infiltrate. There were six terrorists and four of them were on the other side of LoC and two had been able to cross over the LoC fence. There was a brief exchange of fire." "There was intense search for three days. The operation has ended. We have verified that there was no remnant of infiltration."

IG, Kashmir, Vijay Kumar said as many as 97 pistols were seized so far from terrorists this year.

Intel alert warns of 'spectacular terror attack' in J&K during Modi's US visit

SANA SHAKIL @ New Delhi

TERROR groups are planning to carry out a 'spectacular' attack in Jammu and Kashmir to coincide with PM Narendra Modi's meeting with US President Joe Biden, according to the latest inputs received by intelligence agencies.

Highly-placed sources said that terror groups are attempting to carry out a fidayeen attack against a senior police officer or target a government installation.

The Prime Minister reached Washington on Thursday on his three-day visit to the US.

"Pak-based terror groups are trying to learn newer techniques of attacking our forces from terrorists based abroad," a senior security official said, referring to the nexus between anti-India terror groups such as Lashkar-e-Toiba and the Taliban.

The officer added that there was a growing concern about the potential of terrorists planting an IED around a flag pole as was done in Israel.

He further added that the troops on the ground were asked to prepare drills and techniques, including use of bomb detecting dogs to detect such booby traps.

All units of the Central Reserve Police Force and Jammu and Kashmir police were put on high alert following a series of intelligence inputs about the 'spectacular' attack in the coming days, sources in the security establishment said.

Urban areas in J&K, whose security is taken care of by the CRPF, is particularly on the crosshairs of the terror outfits. Those guarding vital installations, residents of government functionaries and minority pickets have been directed to remain ever vigilant.

The intelligence agencies also have received specific inputs that terrorists may already have done recce for the attack that they are planning to carry out a few days ago, this newspaper has learnt.

In UP, Rajbhar plans to go big with small parties

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

IN an attempt to force a decisive impact of smaller parties on the outcome of UP polls due early next year, former BJP ally Om Prakash Rajbhar is trying to rope in more partners for his Bhagidari Sankalp Morcha. Rajbhar was a minister in the Yogi Adityanath government and heads the Suheldev Bharatiya Samaj Party (SBSP).

Seen as a tough bargainer, Rajbhar has emerged as an 'untouchable' among big political players in UP. After stitching an alliance with All India Ittehadul Muslimeen (AIMIM), led by Asaduddin Owaisi, Rajbhar met Bhim Army chief Chandrashekhar Azad recently and invited him to join the new front to expand its reach in western UP.

"The Bhim Army chief agreed to join the Bhagidari Sankalp Morcha," claimed Rajbhar. Azad has formed the Azad Samaj Party in March 2020 to take part in electoral politics.

Rajbhar had tried an alliance with mainstream parties such as the Samajwadi Party and the Congress, but couldn't succeed because he joined hands with Owaisi.

Main opposition parties have kept off Rajbhar following his meeting with BJP state chief Swatantra Dev Singh last month. That meeting annoyed not only AIMIM chief Owaisi, who intends to contest on 100 seats in UP, but also the Samajwadi Party.

A senior Samajwadi Party leader said it was difficult to ascertain which way Rajbhar is headed for. "There is no guarantee that the SBSP chief will stand with us after winning the elections in alliance. Going with a person whose loyalty is questionable will not be a wise decision," said an SP leader.

Meanwhile, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav is believed to be averse to alliance with any person who has aligned with the AIMIM because he thinks Owaisi's party may dent the SP's Muslim vote bank.

Rajbhar's SBSP had contested the 2017 Assembly polls in alliance with the BJP and won four seats for the first time. However, having failed to get a favourable response from main parties, the Morcha is trying to gain strength by approaching small players in the field.

AIMIM chief Owaisi is also doing his bit. He met Pragatisheel Samajwadi Party (Lohia) president Shivpal Singh Yadav at his Lucknow residence two days back.

Analysts believe that Shivpal was finding it difficult to join hands with the Bhagidari Morcha or other parties as he was still awaiting the green light from the Samajwadi Party on the alliance.

Minor raped for months in Mumbai, 26 held: Police

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Mumbai

A 15-year-old girl from Dombivli suburb of Mumbai has been raped allegedly by 33 people in the last eight months repeatedly. Thane police has arrested 26 accused including two minors.

"The accused invited the minor to a party and made her consume alcohol. Then the accused had sex with her and filmed the act. They then used the video to blackmail the victim to continue raping her," Thane DCP Sachin Gunjal said. "First, her boyfriend, then the boyfriend's friend, and then the others raped her repeatedly from January 23 till September this year."

Gunjal said that the girl shared horrific details with her relative recently after which a case was registered. "An ACP lady officer is investigating the case. Besides, a three-team of police are searching the absconding accused," he said.

When the minor narrated her sordid tale to her family members, they decided to trap the accused. "The girl called the six accused. The accused arrived in a vehicle and took her. The girl's family in another car chased the accused. However, on the way, one of the tyres of their car got punctured and they lost touch with the accused," said a cop.

One of the relatives immediately called the police which rushed to the spot and arrested the six accused. Later, more accused were arrested

Jal Yojna opens floodgate of attacks against Nitish

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

CONTRACTS worth Rs 53 crore to the relatives of Bihar Deputy Chief Minister Tarkishore Prasad in 'Nal Jal Yojna' (Tap Water Scheme) have opened the 'watergate' of attacks against CM Nitish Kumar.

In 2019, the contracts for the completion of works on Nal Jal Yojna were reportedly awarded to the close relatives of Prasad. It was under part-I of Nitish's ambitious '7-Resolve' (Saat Nischai Yojna) programme.

Now, the entire issue is being politicized. The opposition parties are firing salvos against the Nitish government. Amid the growing political outcries by the opposition against Deputy CM Prasad, the BJP has started discussions over the episode. After suffering a major loss of face, Nitish has taken the matter seriously.

On Thursday, Tejashwi Yadav, in a hurriedly called press conference, asked Nitish to step down from the chair. "Will now Nitishji resign after the disclosure of the contracts obtained by the relatives of Deputy CM Prasad in the Nal-Jal Yojna? He won't step down because he has surrendered before the BJP and corruption."

Yadav alleged that the Har Ghar Nal Jal scheme had actually become a private money earning 'yojana'. "This scheme has crossed all the heights of corruption with the contracts having been awarded to the relatives of Deputy CM Prasad."

Anand Giri claims threat to life, seeks security

Lucknow: As a CBI team reached Prayagraj to take over the probe into the death of Mahant Narendra Giri, his disciple and main accused Anand Giri sought protection claiming threat to his life on Thursday. Giri submitted an application to the Chief Judicial Magistrate through his lawyer and sought adequate security. Substantiating the threat perception, his lawyer claimed in the application that his client was attacked by some persons on the court premises on Wednesday. CJM Harendra Kumar issued directives to the Naini Jail superintendent to provide security to Giri as per the jail manual and other laws.

Judge intentionally hit by auto: CBI

RANCHI: Additional district judge Uttam Anand was hit intentionally while he was out on a morning walk, the CBI told the Jharkhand High Court in connection with the Dhanbad case. On Thursday, CBI zonal joint director Sharad Agarwal submitted before the court that the death was not a case of accident. Anand was killed July 28 after an autorickshaw rammed onto him in Dhanbad. Agarwal appeared before the division bench headed by Chief Justice Ravi Ranjan and said that CBI officers were working round-the-clock to uncover the truth behind the incident. The bench observed that the case has shaken morale of the judiciary. "Time is the essence of this probe. The more time is spent, the harder it will be to ascertain the truth."

Punjab pitch: Captain down but not out

THE BJP wants to fight on all 117 seats in the state this time around. At present, it has only two MLAs in the Assembly. In the last Assembly elections, the BJP contested only 23 seats, as it was in alliance with SAD.

Political analyst Prof Ashutosh of Panjab University said, "Amarinder has two options. Either he floats his own regional party, like others did, or join the BJP. The kind of political language he is speaking and idioms he is using of late are in consonance with the BJP line on national security and Pakistan bashing."

Amarinder is clearly no pushover. With him holding his cards close to the chest, nothing can be definitively said as yet. To draw him, the BJP has to find a workaround for the three farm laws and also introduce a law guaranteeing minimum support prices for crops. The other option for Amarinder is to launch his own regional party with tacit support of BJP.

Meanwhile, in public rebuff to Amarinder, Congress spokesperson Supriya Shrinate said he should reconsider his remarks saying the Congress made him the CM for nine-and-a-half years. "Hatred, jealousy, and vendetta have no place in politics. If he wants to leave the party, then I have nothing to say on this," she added.

Amarinder shot back: "Yes, there's no space for anger in politics. But is there space for humiliation & insult in a grand old party like @INCIndia? If a senior party leader like me can be treated like this, I wonder what the workers must go through!"

Channi leaves for Delhi, Congress high command to decide on Punjab cabinet

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

AMID the pending cabinet expansion, Punjab Chief Minister Charanjit Singh Channi has been called by the Congress high command following which he has left for Delhi.

The high command is itself trying to recast the Punjab Congress and the new state cabinet minus Amarinder Singh. It is also making sure that no leader gets absolute power in the state in order to ensure victory in the upcoming election.

The narrative that is being given is that it is meant to counter the anti-incumbency and correct the negative sentiments of the Amarinder Singh government.

According to sources in the party, both Rahul and Priyanka Gandhi themselves are doing micro-management. This is evident from the fact that they are working through their trusted leaders like Harish Chaudhary, Harish Rawat, Ambika Soni and K C Venugopal with inputs from political strategist Prashant Kishor. All these leaders are briefing the Gandhis on the profile of each party MLA being considered for the cabinet berth.

"A blend of experience and young faces is being considered for the new cabinet that could correct the negative narrative of the Congress in the state. The performance of the ministers in the Amarinder government and the allegation of corruption will be factored in the selection of the new council of ministers besides the age factor," says a Congress leader.

Also, the party wants to negate the perception that now Sidhu is an all-powerful Congress leader in the state after Amarinder has been replaced.

Sources say that Sidhu may not get absolute power as checks and balances are being put in place on him to ensure that power does not stay with one person.

Good news for cricket lovers in Jaipur

The 8 year-long-wait for cricket lovers of Rajasthan to see international matches is all set to end. Jaipur's Sawai Mansingh stadium will host two international matches in the upcoming cricket season when teams from New Zealand and West Indies will compete with India. In November, the Kiwis will play a T-20 series along with two Test matches. The first T-20 will be held in Jaipur on November 17. In February next year, the West Indies will play second ODI against India in Jaipur. The Pink City had last hosted an international match in October 2013 when India clashed with the mighty team from Australia in an ODI game at the Sawai Mansingh Stadium.

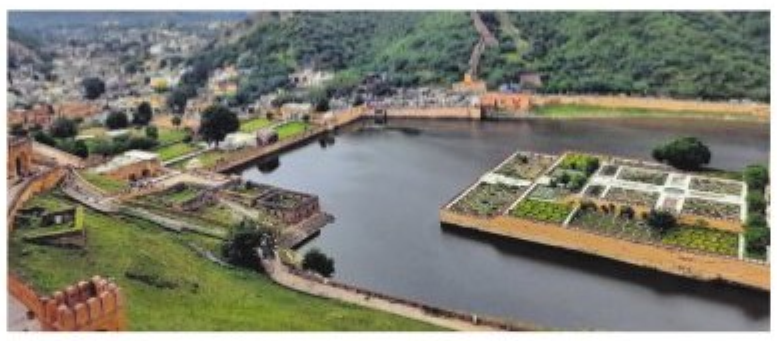
Grading system for government, private schools

In Rajasthan, a grading system will soon be implemented in government and private schools. Under this system, information about the infrastructure in schools and the number of teachers will be given to parents. All government and private schools will be put under three grades — A, B and C. Parents will have the freedom to choose schools according to their grades. According to Secondary Education director Saurabh Swami, "a software is being made by the Education Department whereby grading of schools will be done on the basis of over 2 dozen factors. They will cover key points such as infrastructure, teachers, sports activities as well as fee structure." Experts say that once the grading system is implemented, parents will be able to compare all government and private schools across the state.



Parched state gets full quota of rainfall

It is raining heavily in the last phase of the monsoon in Rajasthan whereby the 'rain quota' has been met for the sixth time in the last 11 years. The state has received 540 mm of rain this year against the average 530 mm of rain. Of the total 33 districts, so far 10 districts have received more than normal rainfall, 20 got normal rains and only three districts got less than normal rainfall. Luckily, the monsoon will be active in east Rajasthan for another one week. In Jodhpur and Bikaner divisions, it will rain for just a few days more. As a result, water levels in dams across the state have risen greatly.

Udaipur railway station to get makeover

The railway station in Udaipur will soon get a major facelift. To improve travel experience of passengers, ultra-modern facilities will be provided at the railway station in line with those available at international airports. Similar, state-of-the-art amenities will be given for tourists coming to the Lake City, which is one of India's top attractions for tourists from all over the world. The railway station will be renovated to meet global standards. This will help in promoting better connectivity, and multi-modal transport integration. The estimated cost for this 'redevelopment' is around `132 crore. Founded by Maharana Udai Singh II in 1559, Udaipur is known for artificial lakes.

World powers agree to push Taliban on forming inclusive govt

UN Security Council also calls for protection of the rights of Afghans, especially women

NEW YORK

THE five permanent UN Security Council members found common ground on Wednesday on Afghanistan with officials saying all the powers would press the Taliban to be more inclusive after their military takeover.

China and Russia have described last month's Taliban victory as a defeat for the United States and moved to work with the insurgents, but no country has moved to recognize a government that includes international pariahs.

The Security Council powers all want "a peaceful and stable Afghanistan where humanitarian aid can be distributed without problems and without discrimination," Secretary-General Antonio Guterres told reporters after the meeting during the annual General Assembly.

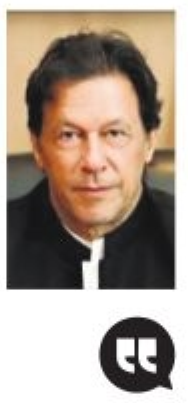
They seek "an Afghanistan where the rights of women and girl are respected, an Afghanistan that is not a sanctuary for terrorism, an Afghanistan with an inclusive government representing all sections of the population," he said.

A US official described the meeting called by British Foreign Secretary Liz Truss as "constructive" and with "a lot of convergence," including hopes that the Taliban respect the rights of women and girls. "I don't think anybody is satisfied with the composition of this interim government, including the Chinese," the official said. Speaking to AFP before the meeting, China's ambassador to the UN, Zhang Jun, agreed that the five powers all wanted an inclusive government.

China has previously criticised the US for freezing billions of dollars in Afghan assets.But Beijing is also keen for the neighboring nation not to be a base for outside extremist groups. Afghanistan was also the subject of virtual talks by the Group of 20 major economies.

German Foreign Minister Heiko Maas, addressing the G20, renewed concern about the Islamists' caretaker government which includes no non-Taliban and no women but has ministers blacklisted by the UN. AFP

Govt that leaves out women may lead to civil war: Imran



If they do not have an inclusive government, and gradually it descends into a civil war, which if they do not include all the factions sooner or later [will happen], that too will impact Pakistan.

Imran Khan,
Pakistan Prime Minister

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN Prime Minister Imran Khan said on Wednesday that if the Taliban does not form an inclusive government, then there is a risk that Afghanistan will gradually descend into civil war. "If they do not have an inclusive government, and gradually it descends into a civil war, which if they do not include all the factions sooner or later [will happen], that too will impact Pakistan," Khan told the BBC.

He said that Pakistan was concerned about the humanitarian and refugee crisis that a civil war in Afghanistan may spark.

He said a chaotic Afghanistan will be an "ideal place for terrorists, because if there is no control or if there is fighting going on. And that is our worry. So terrorism from Afghan soil, and secondly if there is a humanitarian crisis or a civil war, a refugee issue for us."

Meanwhile, his foreign minister urged the international community to accord legitimacy to the Taliban government.

"What's the alternative? What are the options? This is the reality, and can they turn away from this reality?" Shah Mehmood Qureshi told AP News. "Be more realistic in your approach," Qureshi said. "Try an innovative way of engaging with them," he said.

TO ACCORD LEGITIMACY OR NOT

The international community faces a growing dilemma over whether to recognise the Taliban as the rulers of Afghanistan, weighing distaste on the vision of the Islamist group with the need for stability

Pakistan's Foreign Minister Shah Mahmood Qureshi said the Taliban needed to be more sensitive and take account of international opinion, an attitude shared by Qatar, which has long served as a mediator

China and Russia have described the Taliban victory as a defeat for the US and have moved to work with the insurgents with Beijing seeking the unblocking of frozen Afghan assets. But they have held off on recognition

‘Auto firms exits cost 64k jobs, ₹2.485 cr’

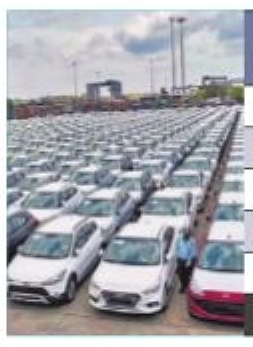
5 cos have shut biz since 2017; Ford’s exit accounts for loss of 40,000 jobs and ₹2,000 cr for dealers, says Fada

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

A total of 64,000 jobs across dealer showrooms were lost and investment worth ₹2,485 crore went in drain due to exit of five big automobile manufacturers from India in recent years, estimated Federation of Automobile Dealers Associations (FADA) on Thursday.

Since 2017 as many as 5 big names, mostly US automakers, have wound up from the Indian market, citing poor sales. The biggest exit came last month when local unit of Michigan-based Ford announced closing its two manufacturing facilities and wrapping up sales of its passenger vehicles. According to Fada, Ford alone accounts for 40,000 employment loss and its 170 dealers are expected to lose ₹2,000 crore. This is over and above 4,000 directly employed by Ford India.

“The sudden exits by these MNCs cause great distress to the entire auto retail industry and hamper both, the entrepreneur’s zeal to do business and the customers’ interests, by leaving the customers high and dry with no proper after-sales support. This not only tarnishes the dealers’ name in the society, as the dealers are the face of the brand, but also tarnishes brand India’s value,” said Fada President Vinkesh Gulati.



Name of oem's	No. of dealers	Employment loss	Dealer investment
Ford India	170	40,000	₹2000 cr
General Motors	142	15,000	₹65 cr
HarleyDavidson	34	2,000	₹70 cr
Man Trucks	38	4,500	₹200 cr
UM & Lohia	80	2,500	₹150 cr
Total	464	64,000	₹2,485 cr

While Ford maintains that this is not an exit, Gulati said the modalities of the so-called restructuring of Indian operations suggest otherwise. Ford had previously said it will continue to provide after-sales services to its customers and sell premium vehicles via import route in India. It had also said that it would adequately compensate dealers who continue to offer after-sales services to customers.

FADA, however, in a letter written to Mahendra Nath Pandey, Minister of Heavy Industries, claimed that Ford India is forcing its dealers to first sign non-disclosure agreement (NDA) latest by September 14, 2021 before any compensation package is worked out.

Gulati urged the minister to initiate a formal discussion on Automobile Dealers’ Protection Act, and its importance to protect small and medium enterprises, their employees and the customers.

Other big exits are General Motors (in 2017), Man Trucks (in 2018), UM Lohia (in 2019), Harley Davidson (in 2020). 15,000 jobs were lost when GM exited India, 4,500 when Man Trucks, 2,000 when Harley Davidson and 2,500 when UM Lohia closed their retail operations in India.

Govt plans to seek ratings upgrade from Moody’s

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

FINANCE ministry is planning to pitch for a sovereign rating upgrade from Moody’s Investors Service, as it is planning to meet them on September 28.

Finance ministry officials plan to meet the Moody’s to provide details on how India will meet its budget targets for the current fiscal year, according to Bloomberg, citing sources.

“Ministry keeps on meeting rating agencies updating them with the fiscal situation. This is a routine process. Certainly, we will push for rating upgrade,” an official in the finance ministry told TNIE.

Officials said that the meeting will involve budget plan, fiscal path and recovery in the economy and revenue collection after the second wave.

Moody’s Investor Service had downgraded India’s sovereign rating to the lowest investment grade on June 1, 2020 to ‘BAA3’ from ‘BAA2’ and also maintained the outlook from ‘stable’ to ‘negative’.

Baa3’ is its lowest investment grade — just a notch above junk status. It had then cited policy challenges in addressing a prolonged economic slowdown and its deteriorating fiscal position.

“The decision to downgrade India’s ratings reflects Moody’s view that the country’s policy-making institutions will be challenged in enacting and implementing policies which effectively mitigate the risks of a sustained period of relatively low growth, significant further deterioration in the general government fiscal position and stress in the financial sector,” it had said in a statement.

The Indian economy contracted 7.3% in FY21 but is expected to clock double-digit growth during the current fiscal.

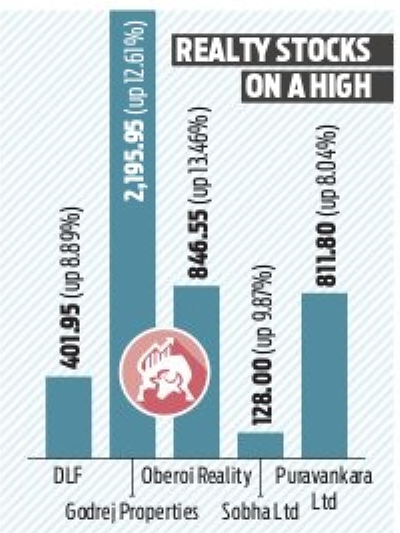
Sensex nears 60k; realty stocks shed Evergrande crisis and surge 9%

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AFTER a minor correction that took place due to disruption caused by China’s Evergrande crisis, India’s equity market witnessed one of its biggest rallies of recent times on Thursday. Bulls took complete control of the market, pushing the benchmark BSE Sensex 958.03 points or 1.63% to end at 59,885.36, a record closing. The Nifty 50 index advanced 276.30 points or 1.57% to shut shop at 17,822.95. There is a good chance that Sensex, for the first time, may cross 60,000-mark on Friday and Nifty may breach the 18,000 points in next few sessions.

Global markets, including India, tempered optimism despite a slightly hawkish tilt by the Federal Reserve intimating that the US central bank will begin reducing its asset purchases in November and conclude the tapering in mid-2022.

“Indian markets have been on a roll and the rally today was symbolic of the prevailing strong sentiment locally on the back of reduction in Covid cases and the strong vaccination numbers. With improvement in economic activity and the optimism around the capex cycle revival, the earnings trajectory for India Inc will naturally get a big boost,” said Devang Mehta, Head – Equity Advisory, Centrum Broking.



Rahul Sharma, Co-Founder of Equity99, said that on Friday the move might continue. “Nifty might touch the 18000-mark tomorrow... The realty stocks are in focus due to improvements in China’s Evergrande Group and also as registration jumps due to a cut in Stamp duty.” he added.

Sharad Agrawal, Executive Director – Capital Markets, Knight Frank India, said, “Residential is seeing a significant revival on the back of favourable govt policies, pent-up demand, attractive pricing, and lowest ever mortgage costs.”

Google files writ in Delhi HC against CCI after ‘leak’ of confidential report

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

GOOGLE has filed a writ petition in the Delhi High Court over an alleged confidential report leak by the Competition Commission of India (CCI) related to an ongoing investigation regarding tech giant’s monopoly in the Android smartphone market in India.

Google said that it did not receive the report from the competition regulator yet. The report contents were reported last week, which stated that Google was found guilty of misusing its dominant position in the smartphone market of India with a 98% share and entering into exclusive partnership with smartphone manufacturers, which requires the brands to pre-install various Google apps along with the Play Store. This, as per the report findings, has caused damage to the businesses of competitors by leveraging its position in search engines, YouTube, Chrome browser and various other applications.

The probe was initiated by the CCI in 2019. On Thursday, Google said that it has filed a writ petition in the Delhi High Court seeking redressal in this matter, specifically protesting against the breach of confidence, which impairs Google’s ability to defend itself and harms Google and its partners.

“...The Director General’s Report, which contains our confidential information in an ongoing case, was leaked to the media while in the CCI’s custody. Protecting confidential information is fundamental to any governmental investigation, and we are pursuing our legal right to seek redress and prevent any further unlawful disclosures. We cooperated fully and maintained confidentiality throughout the investigative process, and we hope and expect the same level of confidentiality from the institutions we engage with,” a Google spokesperson said.

NEW DEADLINE

Companies can hold AGMs by Nov 30: Govt

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

IN a relief for small and medium companies, the Ministry of Corporate Affairs (MCA) has extended the due date for holding annual general meetings (AGMs) for the financial year 2020-21 by two months.

This means that companies now have time till the end of November 2021 to hold the AGM. Under the company law, corporates are required to hold AGM within six months from the date of completion of the financial year, which was September 30.

“It has been decided to advise the Registrar of Companies (RoCs) to accord approval for extension of time for a period of two months beyond the due date by which companies are required to conduct their AGMs for the financial year 2020-21 ended on 31st March 2021,” the ministry said.

The move was initiated after the ministry received a number of representations from companies as well as audit firms.

Khazat Kotwal, partner, Deloitte India, said: “This is especially helpful for SMEs and our start-ups since they have been facing several difficulties including business disruptions,”

E-tailers’ sales may cross $9 bn this festive season

BISMAH MALIK @ Bengaluru

INDIA’S e-commerce industry is expected to clock sales worth over 9 billion this festive month, a 23% growth in Gross Merchandise value (GMV) YoY, according to the latest report by research firm Redseer.

In the first weeks of the festive month alone, the sales by the e-tailers are likely to touch $4.8 billion, a 30% increase in GMV YoY.

E-commerce giants including Amazon, Flipkart have strengthened their logistics capabilities, announced recruitment of part-time workers as well as onboarded sellers/ brick and mortar stores on their platforms to cater to the increased demand during the month-long festive season across the country.

Flipkart has announced its mega sales event, Big Billion Days Sales from October 7-12 with the etailer expected to announce mega discounts/ exclusive launches in smartphones, home appliances, fashion, home decor categories. Amazon is likely to announce its Great India Festival season dates on Friday, according to top sources.

The Redseer report indicated that the etailers sold products worth $7.4 billion in 2020.

This was despite the pandemic having disrupted the economy and casting an impact on the purchasing power of consumers. The survey added that the growth will be mostly driven by the accelerated online adoption which has been witnessed as an effect of Covid. Secondly, Tier 2+ will continue to drive growth as they are 55-60% of the total shopper base this year, similar or higher than 57% in 2020 festive days.

LOOPHOLES IN ITNL AUDIT

NFRA SEES GAPS IN IL& FS TRANSPORTATION AUDIT

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

AUDIT regulator National Financial Reporting Authority (NFRA) has found several audit failures on the part of SRBC & CO LLP in its statutory audit of the books of crisis-ridden IL& FS Transportation Networks Ltd (ITNL) for the financial year 2017-18, including the continuation of SRBC & Co LLP as statutory auditor of ITNL, which it observed was illegal and void.

“The initial appointment of SRBC & Co LLP, and the continuation of SRBC & Co LLP, as statutory auditor of ITNL, was prima facie illegal and void,” the Audit Quality Review Report (AQRR) released on Thursday said.

NFRA has highlighted at least nine major loopholes atleast in its report.

ITNL’s financial exposure to its subsidiaries, associates and joint ventures amounting to Rs 3,346 crore was not properly valued as per the applicable Accounting Standards.

Also, the Audit Firm has failed to maintain documents as per auditing standard.

Pandemic impact ? CEOs salary defies gravity despite constraints amid Covid

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

AS shareholders of several companies have rejected proposals of salary hikes for CEOs and directors recently, remuneration of top-tier managers at various firms has come under radar.

In a recent episode of shareholders’ fight against company boards, shareholders of Eicher Motors, maker of Royal Enfield motorcycles, rejected a proposal to re-appoint Siddhartha Lal as its managing director with a remuneration package one-tenth larger than his current one.

While various CEOs and board members took pay cuts during the pandemic, a look at the annual reports of companies suggests many have seen their salaries rising amidst Covid-19, even as employees saw a hold on pay rise.

Rajesh Gopinathan, CEO of TCS, who earned ₹13.3 crore for FY20, saw his annual salary increase by 52% year-on-year to over ₹20 crore in the last fiscal, according to the company’s annual report for 2020-21. The average increase in the managerial remuneration at the company for the last financial year was 55.22%, while the median percentage increase in remuneration of employees in the same year was 0.03%.

While CEO tenures have shortened, overall salaries are seeing a rise, says Vijay Sivaram, CEO, Quess IT Staffing. Sanjay Shetty, Director - Professional Search & Selection & Strategic Accounts, Randstad India, explains that a CEO’s compensation has ‘salary’ as a smaller component with a big focus on long-term incentives, owner-promoter incentives, and other performance-based variables.

TECH GLITCHES

Making steady progress in fixing I-T portal: Infosys

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNDER fire for numerous technical issues faced by taxpayers in the new income tax portal developed by it, Infosys on Thursday said that it acknowledges the difficulties some users continue to experience and that it is working expeditiously, in collaboration with the Income Tax Department, to further streamline end-user experience.

Though it claimed that despite the difficulties being faced by taxpayers, ‘the portal makes sustained progress with crores of taxpayers successfully performing transactions.’ To buttress its claim, Infosys quoted a number of data points.

Over 3 crore taxpayers successfully completed various transactions, claims the company.

The company claims that during September, more than 15 lakh unique taxpayers have logged into the portal daily. “Over 85% of taxpayers who have filed their returns have also completed their e-verification, largely through Aadhaar OTP authentication. The portal is facilitating over 2.5 lakh returns filing on a daily basis and ITR 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, and 7 are now available for filing,” it said in a statement.

It said that it is making ‘steady progress’ in resolving the issues faced by the users.

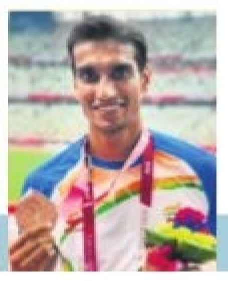
Paralympian Sharad diagnosed with heart inflammation



Tokyo Paralympics bronze medal-winning high jumper Sharad Kumar has been diagnosed with heart inflammation and has undergone a few more tests, reports of which are still awaited. Kumar, who won bronze in the T-42 high jump event in Tokyo on August 31, was admitted to the AIIMS after experiencing chest congestion last week.

Now, fresh ad with tweaked eligibility criteria for TOPS CEO

FLIPSIDE

INDRANEEL DAS

IN June, a couple of months before the Tokyo Olympics, the Sports Authority of India (SAI) and the sports ministry had invited applications for the post of Target Olympics Podium (TOP) Scheme Chief Executive Officer (CEO) on their website. The last date of application was within 30 days of the advertisement. This was when Rajesh Rajagopalan was still the CEO and his tenure was getting over after the Olympics. It's more than one month now since Rajagopalan left, but the CEO is yet to be appointed.

It is understood that there were quite a few candidates who appeared for interviews and the process was drawing to an end. It was expected that a new CEO would be in place as soon as the Paralympics were over or at least by the end of September. However, on September 21, the sports ministry and the SAI websites hosted a fresh announcement inviting applications from the same TOP Scheme CEO's post. The advertisement is under the subject: 'Engagement of Chief Executive Officer (CEO) on contractual basis and under requirement: One Chief Executive Officer, Target Olympic Podium Scheme, Delhi. (CEO, TOPS)'.

What seems interesting is a clause in the advertisement. In the June ad, under educational qualification it said: "i. Essential: 2 years Post Graduate degree in any field after completion of 3 years or more of Undergraduate Degree or MBBS/B.Tech from a recognised Institution". However, in the September 21 ad, the qualification criteria has been tweaked. It says, "i. Essential: Graduation in any discipline from a recognised University/ Institution". Other criteria under 'Desirable' remains the same. But instead of 30 days, this time the potential candidates have 10 days to apply. It seems after three months SAI realised what should be the minimum educational qualification for TOPS CEO — instead of PG just graduation in any field would do.

However, it is understood that SAI will consider the candidates who appeared in the previous round of interviews. Even the ad says, "Applicants who have applied in response to earlier advertisement notification dated 16.06.2021 need not apply again".With the Olympics and the Paralympics over, it was time the ministry and the SAI had appointed a CEO. There are quite a few things that needs to be done. It's already September and by the time interviews and appointments are done, it would be somewhere in October. The TOP Scheme core group was until the Olympics and the new list needs to be made. With the Commonwealth and Asian Games next year, it is prudent to update the list. More than deserving, there are quite a few athletes who should be weeded out. Also there are some athletes in the development group who are expected to get into core group.

Bhubaneswar to host junior hockey WC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

BHUBANESWAR will become the second Indian city after New Delhi to host the senior as well as the junior men's hockey World Cups. After successfully hosting the senior World Cup in 2018, the city will play host to the junior World Cup in two months' time (from November 24 to December 5). Even if the event was originally allocated to Guwahati by Hockey India (HI), Bhubaneswar emerged as a consensus candidate given its experience in organising world-class hockey events.

At a time when Covid-19 still very much threatens the conduct of events, HI, and the International Hockey Federation (FIH), decided to take it back to a venue where the facilities are first rate. Moreover, given they know a lot of familiar faces in the state machinery, they feel confident that the conduct of the World Cup will not be threatened even if there is an uptick of Covid-19 cases in the weeks prior to or during the tournament.

This much was made clear to this daily by the FIH's CEO, Thierry Weil, during an interaction a week or so earlier. "All aspects had to be taken into consideration, with regard to Covid, including conducting the event even if there is a rise in positive cases," Weil had told this daily.

Focus on Mandhana

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

WITH key India batter Harmanpreet Kaur not available due to a thumb injury for the second ODI against Australia on Friday, all eyes will once again be on Shafali Verma, Smriti Mandhana and Mithali Raj. The trio has done the business, scoring quality runs at this level. But when you come up against a dominant team like Australia, they need to take their game a notch higher. In order to compete against the mighty Australians, scoring 250 plus also becomes a must. The first ODI at Mackay being a prime example, where Australia chased down India's score of 225 with ridiculous ease.

There will be big pressure on Mandhana, who failed in the first game. "I had a one-on-one chat with her and in the last two sessions we have worked hard at the nets. We have addressed the issues. She is a world-class player and we are backing her ability to get runs for us, and definitely, we will see the difference in tomorrow's game (Friday)," women's batting coach Shiv Sunder Das said.

IYER FIRE SINGES MI

Relatively unknown southpaw shines yet again in easy KKR win

CHENNAI HOLD ACES AGAINST RCB

CSK must be buoyant after a win against holders Mumbai. They enjoy a good record against Bangalore and can inch closer to a playoff berth with a win in Sharjah. Talking points...

A run fest in Sharjah

The Sharjah Cricket Stadium was witness to many high-scoring batting feasts in the first half of the IPL last year. This is the first game in Sharjah this season, and big hitters in both camps should enjoy the opportunity to launch from the outset.

Maxwell must fire

One of the reasons for RCB's good start to this season in India was Glenn Maxwell's impactful displays with the bat. The change from Kings XI Punjab to Bangalore seemed to have done him a world of good, but his big test comes now. He had a horrendous season with Punjab in the UAE last year and cannot afford to flounder yet again.

LIVE ON STAR SPORTS NETWORKS

VIVEK KRISHNAN @Chennai

WHO is Venkatesh Iyer and where has he been all this while? That is the question on everyone's lips after the 26-year-old left-hander produced another stroke-filled innings for Kolkata Knight Riders on Thursday. After an unbeaten 41 on his IPL debut against Royal Challengers Bangalore in KKR's previous game, Iyer once again came to the fore to deliver a seven-wicket win for his side, this time against a Mumbai Indians attack that includes the likes of Trent Boult, Jasprit Bumrah and Adam Milne. He smashed 53 entertaining runs off just 30 deliveries to set up the chase of 156 while Rahul Tripathi also came to the fore with an equally entertaining 74* in 42 balls. KKR's win has taken them to the fourth spot.

While Tripathi is a known commodity in the IPL, it is Iyer's sudden impact that has made people sit up and take notice. The towering reputations in Mumbai's line-up did not seem to faze him one bit. His very first ball on Thursday was disdainfully dispatched to the deep square leg boundary for six. It did not seem to matter that the bowler was Boult, whose ability to swing the new ball keeps far more experienced players on their toes. The man from Madhya Pradesh — whose family is originally from Tamil Nadu — started in top gear and never slowed down, batting as though this was just a game in the streets of his neighbourhood in Indore.

Brief scores: MI 155/6 in 20 ovs (Q de Kock 55; L Ferguson 2/27) lost to KKR 159/3 in 15.1 ovs (R Tripathi 74 n.o., V Iyer 53)

Conduct inquiry on Manika's claims: HC to Centre

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY
@New Delhi

THE Delhi High Court on Thursday temporarily stayed the Table Tennis Federation of India's (TTFI) order of making it mandatory to attend national camps in order to be eligible for selection to the national team.

That was not all, as after submissions from the Centre, the bench comprising Justice Rekha Palli asked the Centre to conduct an inquiry into Manika Batra's complaint against the federation and national coach Soumyadeep Roy who had allegedly pressurised her to concede a match.

Senior counsel Sachin Dutta, on behalf of Manika, submitted that "the impugned Rules, besides being wholly illegal and contrary to the National Sports Code, have been malafidely framed to exclude the petitioner from participating in any further tournaments..."

THE SECRET OF GETTING AHEAD IS GETTING STARTED › MARK TWAIN

The US' Environmental Protection Agency is sharply limiting restricting hydrofluorocarbons, highly potent greenhouse gases used in refrigerators and ACs. The new rule will cut US production and use by 85% over 15 years.

The advance of lava from a volcanic eruption in Spain's Canary Islands has slowed significantly, raising fears Thursday that it might fan out further and wreak more destruction instead of flowing out into the sea.

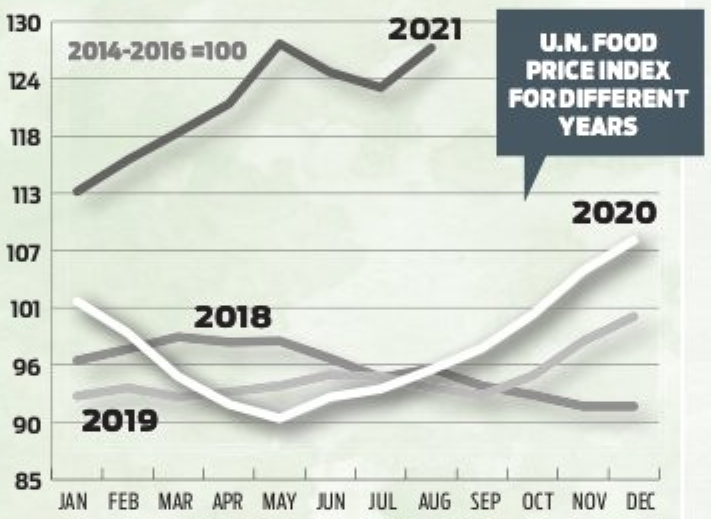
EXFILE ● STATISTICS Cost of world's staples

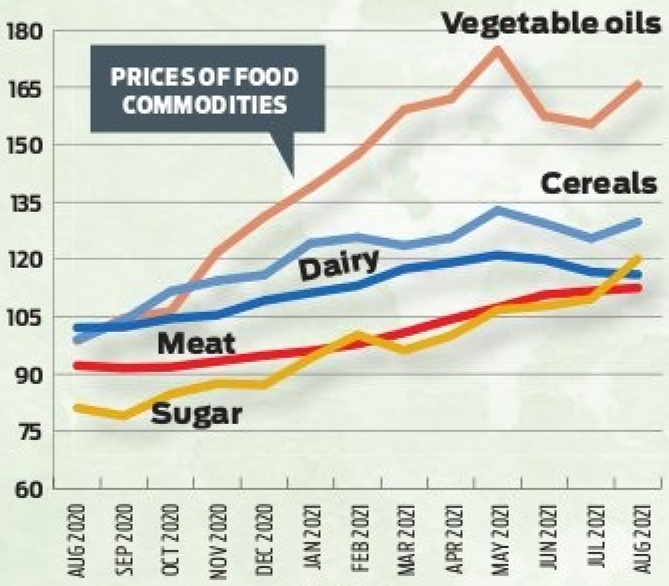
BATTLING FOOD INFLATION

The United Nations held a global food summit on Thursday to find ways to improve the food supply chain, an issue that has gained prominence as prices of edible commodities have risen at their fastest pace in over a decade. The food inflation comes at a time when Covid-19 has battered earnings, particularly in developing countries, where poor families spend more on food than those in advanced nations

40% Food prices have risen by over the past 15 months, the biggest increase since 2010-11. In Aug, prices were 33% higher y-o-y

10% rise in domestic food prices could push an additional 64.4 million people into poverty in Asia, as per estimates





Source: FAO

INSTABILITY OF PRICES

Weather and many localised supply chain issues can affect food prices, making them volatile

WHY IS THIS IMPORTANT

Families are forced to go for less expensive sources of nutrition when food prices are high. Meat, for instance, tends to be switched out for beans in the daily protein intake

GOVTS SWING INTO ACTION

1 From India to the US, governments are intervening to control food prices, telling sellers to lower prices and changing trade rules

2 The US has approved the biggest long-term increase in food stamp benefits ever, while India has sharply increased spending on ration kits

3 The central government on Sept 11 cut import duties on several kinds of oils and lentils. Edible oil is India's largest import after crude oil and gold

> Food is more expensive today than it has been for the vast majority of modern recorded history
>
> Alastair Smith, senior teaching fellow in global sustainable development at Warwick University, told Bloomberg last week

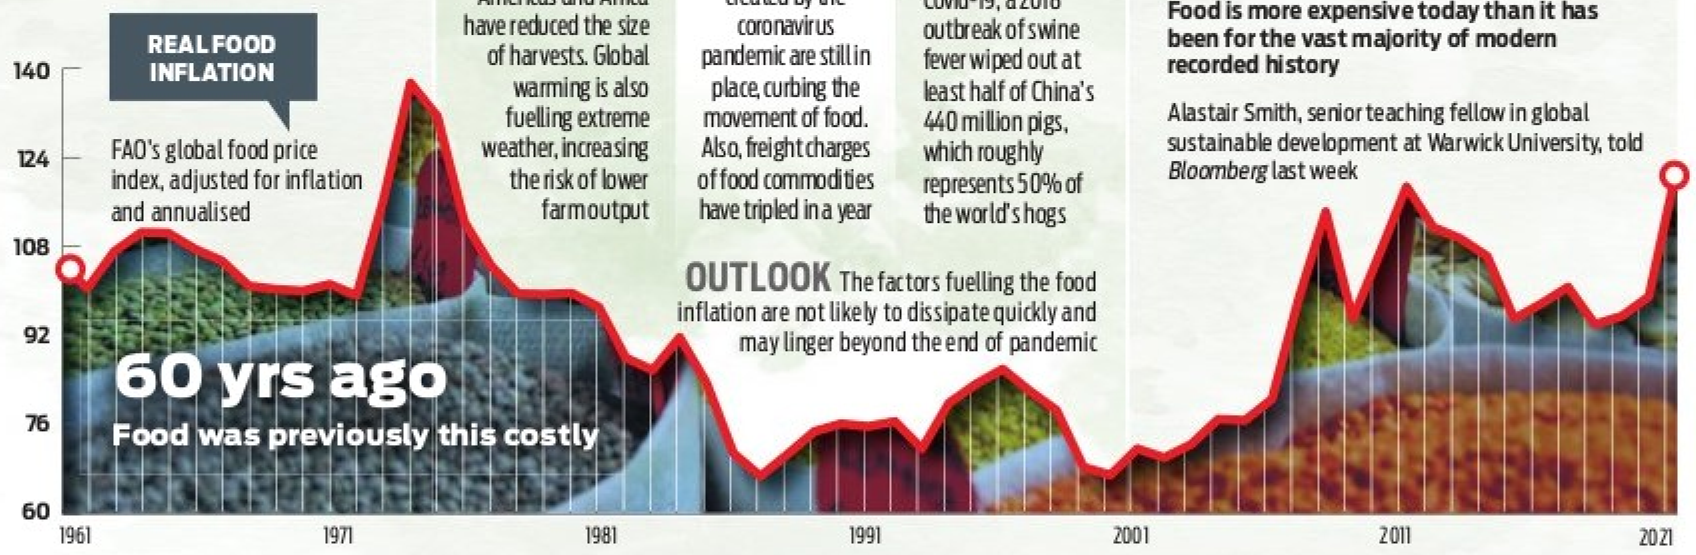
REASONS FOR GLOBAL FOOD INFLATION

WEATHER
Drought in many countries in Asia, Americas and Africa have reduced the size of harvests. Global warming is also fuelling extreme weather, increasing the risk of lower farm output

COVID-19
Some of the supply chain bottlenecks created by the coronavirus pandemic are still in place, curbing the movement of food. Also, freight charges of food commodities have tripled in a year

CHINA'S PIGS
Roots of the food inflation predates Covid-19; a 2018 outbreak of swine fever wiped out at least half of China's 440 million pigs, which roughly represents 50% of the world's hogs

OUTLOOK The factors fuelling the food inflation are not likely to dissipate quickly and may linger beyond the end of pandemic



'Including climate security in UNSC talks is disruptive'

Indian diplomat says conflict shouldn't be seen in terms of climate

SCIENCE

A file image of a UN Security Council meeting at the UN headquarters | AFP

UNITED NATIONS: Dealing with the issue of climate security, which is just one aspect of climate change, in the UN Security Council is 'not desirable', India said on Thursday as it cautioned that viewing conflicts in poorer parts of the world through the prism of climate change will only serve to present a "lop-sided narrative".

Secretary (West) in the Ministry of External Affairs Reenat Sandhu said here the issue of climate change is being discussed by the United Nations in the relevant mechanisms, and whether it is climate change, biodiversity, desertification, mechanisms have been put in place to take further action.

"Given this background, picking one aspect of climate change, namely climate security, and dealing with it in this forum, which is not geared to tackle a multi-faceted problem of this nature, would not be desirable," Sandhu said at the UN Security Council high-level Open Debate on Maintenance of International Peace and Security (Climate and Security).

She said bringing climate security into the Security Council discourse, ignoring basic principles and practices relating to climate change have the potential to disrupt the nature of the overall discussion on this extremely crucial topic.

"When we deliberate the securitisation of climate, we should be careful not to build a parallel climate track. We need to continue on the path of inclusive decision making, which member states have already agreed to," Sandhu said.

She also emphasised that "to view conflicts in poorer parts of the world through the prism of climate change will only serve to present a lop-sided narrative when the reasons for the conflict are to be found elsewhere." Sandhu referred to a recent IPCC report that clearly states that the effect of climate variability on violence is contested. "Climate change may enhance conflict, but cannot be determined as a reason for it," she said.

A study of Nationally Determined Contributions (NDCs) also indicates that while parties do acknowledge the adverse effects of climate change on their economies, "we need to be conscious while looking at it as a risk to their social stability or as an issue of peace and security. Over-simplification of causes of conflict will not help in resolving them nor can it justify extreme policy measures," she added.

Sandhu emphasised that over the last several decades, member states have engaged purposefully and in a focussed manner to put in place commitments relating to mitigation, adaptation, financing, technology transfer so that climate change can be addressed holistically. The Paris Agreement also clearly brings out the interconnectedness of these issues under the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change.

Sandhu told the Council that India is a leader in Climate Action and is on track to meet its commitments under the Paris Agreement. India currently has the world's fastest-growing solar energy programme and has expanded access to clean cooking fuel to cover over 80 million households, making it one of the largest clean energy drives globally. Apart from domestic actions, India has also taken a lead in bringing together international coalitions to create long-term impact via partnerships, she said.

Sandhu termed the International Solar Alliance "a leading example" of how collective action translates into positive impact. She said India has set aside $1.6 billion in soft loans to supplement such efforts.

FACT OF THE MATTER

Delivery robots gain traction

TECHNOLOGY

The trundling army of shopping delivery robots, launched three years ago, barely get a second glance as they ply the residential streets of English town of Milton Keynes, some 80 km north of London. Numbers have grown to 200 in Milton Keynes and nearby Northampton, which introduced the service in 2020, with plans for as many as 500 to be in action in five more places across the country. Fitted with cameras, sensors and a loud alarm if needed, the robots -- first created in 2014 by the two founders of Skype -- are 99% autonomous. But if they become stuck, an operator can take control. They can reach speeds of up to 6 km/h and finish their deliveries in less than an hour. The machines came into their own during the lockdown last year.

Drug-resistant malaria strain

HEALTH

Scientists have found evidence of a resistant form of malaria in Uganda, a worrying sign that the top drug used against the parasitic disease could ultimately be rendered useless without more action to stop its spread. As per the New England Journal of Medicine, Researchers in Uganda analysed blood samples from patients treated with artemesinin, the primary medicine used for malaria in Africa in combination with other drugs. They found that by 2019, nearly 20% of the samples had genetic mutations suggesting the treatment was ineffective. Lab tests showed it took much longer for those patients to get rid of the parasites that cause malaria. Drug-resistant forms of malaria were previously detected in Asia.-

Study finds out how galaxies die

SPACE

A team of astronomers have found the reason why early, massive galaxies turn inactive is because they run out of the cold hydrogen gas needed to make stars, as per a paper in Nature. Star formation is one of the key ways that galaxies grow, and they're said to have gone quiescent when they cease forming stars. Using NASA's Hubble Space Telescope and the Atacama Large Millimeter/submillimeter Array (ALMA) in northern Chile, the team from the University of Massachusetts, Amherst detected six such massive galaxies that were dead. While astronomers have known that early, massive galaxies turn quiescent, but until now, no one knew why.

EU SEEKS ONE PLUG TO CHARGE THEM ALL

TECHNOLOGY

LONDON: The European Union unveiled plans Thursday to require smartphone makers to adopt a single charging method for mobile devices.

The European Commission, the bloc's executive arm, proposed legislation that would mandate USB-C cables for charging, technology that many device makers have already adopted. The main holdout is Apple, which said it was concerned the new rules would limit innovation, and that would end up hurting consumers. iPhones come with the company's own Lightning charging port, though the newest models come with cables that can be plugged into a USB-C socket.

The push by the EU will certainly be cheered by the millions of people who have rummaged through a drawer full of cables for the right charger. But the EU also wants to cut down on the 11,000 metric tonnes of yearly e-waste in the region.

The commission said the typical person living in the EU owns at least three chargers, and use two regularly, but 38% of people report not being able to charge their phones at least once because they couldn't find a compatible charger. Some 420 million mobile phones or portable electronic devices were sold in the EU last year.

DNA offers unprecedented look at how Polynesia was settled

SCIENCE

EASTER ISLAND's famous megaliths have relatives on islands thousands of miles to the north and west -- and so did the people who created them.

Research showed that over a 250-year period separate groups of people set out from tiny islands east of Tahiti to settle Easter Island, the Marquesas and Raivavae -- archipelagos that are thousands of miles apart but all home to similar ancient statues.

"These statues are only on those islands that are closely connected genetically," the study's lead author Alexander Ioannidis of Stanford University told AFP.

Using cutting-edge analysis of modern DNA, Ioannidis and his team were able to map and date the first Polynesians' path of settlement, which began in Samoa and fanned out across the Pacific between the years 830 and 1360.

"This had been an open problem since Captain Cook first noticed that the people on the Polynesian islands were all speaking the same language," Ioannidis said.

The expansion happened rapidly -- over about 17 generations -- outpacing major changes in language or culture that could have served as markers, the findings show.

The researchers were able to piece together the puzzle of trans-Pacific migration by comparing the genetic material in 430 present-day inhabitants across 21 islands.
